Well, reckon me and Elma ain't going to sit on the porch listening to the pigs sing no more this year. They're on their way to make hams and pork chops, and they won't be doing too much singing down in the freezer, I can tell you.

Even after all these years I still feel kind of bad when it comes time to send the stock to slaughter. The barn always looks kind of empty without the summer's young 'uns around. Still, it gets easier as you go along. I damn near wept the first time I just started out. I were that proud of my livestock it were almost like sending my kids to slaughter. Reckon you have to learn not to get attached, I ain't done it since. Mind you, I'm going to miss hearing the pigs hum, lying in the sun with their bellies full.

Heard a strange story the other day. Seems I talked a lot about lightning storms this summer, and this one's about the storm we had last week.

Friend of mine back north had been out doing some fall plowing, when he seen the storm clouds rolling in, so he unhitched the plow and headed for the house with his big tractor in high gear. Anyways, he got there afore the storm broke and parked her in the driveway while he went in to wait the storm out.

Sure enough, she starts in to rolling and flashing all around, and one of the lightning bolts must of come awful close to that tractor, if'n it didn't hit her outright. There were enough of a charge to turn the starter over anyway, and he looked out the window and seen his big tractor, heading for the barn in high gear with smoke just a pouring out on her.

Well, you can guess he run pretty fast to get her stopped afore his barn went up in flames. Trouble was, halfway down the driveway his pants fell down. So, since he were hobbled like, he had to stop and pull 'em up. By that time there weren't a hopein hell that he could catch the tractor. There she were chugging away fire belching out, and not a thing he could do.

Missed his new truck by a couple of inches, went straight through the page wire fence and carried on. Lucky though, she come up against a hydro pole, and not the barn wall. And that stopped her.

Done two thousand dollars worth of damage it did. And give him a good story to tell. I don't reckon nobody else I know can say that a lightning storm started the tractor up. Still, makes it kind of an expensive story, don't it?

EDITORIAL DON'T WASTE THOSE TAX DOLLARS!

Nobody needs to be told we are into a recession, with unemployment, rising costs and soaring taxes.

But the economic situation does have at least a glimmer of a silver lining. The people who have to pay those rising taxes out of their shrinking 'real' incomes are taking a lot more interest in how their hard-earned dollars are being spent.

This was proved in Picton over the last few weeks.

Picton had been authorized to spend $1.4 million, under the Community Services Contribution Program (CSCP), for the revitalization of specific objectives relating to physical and environment deficiencies.

The Federal Government would ante up 50%, the provincial government 25% and the municipal government 25%. But no matter what pocket it was coming out of ... federal, provincial or municipal...the taxpayers were still footing the bill.

One of the proposals for spending part of the $1.4 million in Picton was to develop a waterfront park along the shore of Picton harbour by filling in front of waterfront property, at an estimated cost of about $75,000.

The people who owned that waterfront property were opposed, partly because of the detrimental effect on their property values and partly because it seemed to them to be a foolish waste of money when so many other things were needed to improve the environment of the town.

So strongly opposed were they, that they hired a lawyer to plead their cause.

There were some attempts to make it look as if they were being selfish and that they were the only people in town who were opposed to the waterfront park, but it turned out this was not so.

At a public meeting, held last Wednesday, the idea of the waterfront park was given a 'panning' from a large audience. One of the criticisms raised was that the estimate of $75,000 for filling in 30 feet out into the bay and providing rocks, grass, trees and benches, was far too low. One contractor in the audience suggested it would be more like $800,000 before it was finished.

At Monday night's meeting of Picton Town Council, the proposal to include the waterfront park in the CSCP was scrapped.

'It's a wonderful thing that people are becoming involved,' said Betty Roberts, one of the waterfront property owners. 'We thought they didn't care but people do care about their tax dollars.'

So a word to the wise politicians at all levels of government. It may have taken a recession to do it, but the voters out there are getting involved and are keeping a sharp eye on what you do with the tax dollars you collect from them.

The masts stayed down while the Helen S. navigated the 28 locks on the Barge Canal trip out of Oswego, N.Y. It took five days for the voyage through the locks.

SAILOR'S LIFE IS HARD WORK!

A life on the ocean wave for the Helen S

On August 15, the four-masted schooner, Helen S., set sail from Deseronto, off for the Dominican Republic on a Good Samaritan Mission. Its cargo is eyeglasses donated by North Americans for the on-going eye-care program sponsored by the Christian Medical Society and Evangelical Missionaries Medical Aid Society.

Captain of the Helen S. Bill Grimshaw and his wife, Sirpa, arranged, before they left, to provide the Scanner with information about their experiences as they went along, and with pictures. The voyage is expected to take between two and a half to three months.

We have received their first letter, dated September 14, which came from Cape May, New Jersey, USA. It was written by Sirpa.

Friday night, August 15, after the sunset, we quietly sneaked out from Deseronto for the anchorage in Primer Cove, where we spent all next day gathering strength for the Lake Ontario crossing.

On Sunday, the weather was beautiful, and because of the insufficient wind power for sailing, we motored to Main Duck Island, and found a good anchorage for the night.

The wind came up at midnight, and by morning had reached about 30 miles an hour.

We decided to try 'Helen S.' in a good blow, and before long realized that we could never reach Oswego that day - about 30 miles from where we were.

The ship was riding on the waves gracefully, the bow flat on the waves, and there seemed to be only two who for a while enjoyed the situation, Captain Bill and Gord, our ex-seafarer.

Robbie, Cliff and I had to hang our heads over the rail various times, and even Chimo, our faithful dog, felt oozy.

Cliff was brave enough to climb up the mast to fix a pulley, but got sick again, and Robbie underneath him thought it was raining!

Down below, the fridge travelled across the hallway, the wheelhouse with all the tools rolling loose looked a disaster, and on top of all this the engine stalled because it filled with water.

We turned back to find a shelter by the island, and spent a day and a half improving and fixing things.

THROUGH THE LOCKS

Wednesday, Aug. 20, the weather was favourable enough for the crossing, and we all enjoyed the sailing to Oswego, N.Y.

It took us over a day to clear the customs and get the masts down, and we were ready for the Barge Canal trip.

Five days and through 28 locks, and we never scraped even one 'Tupperware boat' as Bill calls smaller vessels.

In Brewerton, still in the canal by Lake Oneida, the transmission caused a problem. The pipe plug that had been there for 45 years decided to fall out and cause the oil to run out. That was fixed, and things were in order again.

MASTS UP AGAIN

Everyone was happy, when the last lock was behind, and the Hudson River in front of us.

In Catskill, 'Helen S.' got her image back, when the masts were stood up.

We were approaching the ocean and the water was slowly getting salty, and now we had to get used to washing ourselves, the dishes and laundry in salt water. It certainly does not clean as well as fresh water unless you use special soap or detergent.

Our good friend Skinner from Deseronto left us some home-made soap, and it seems to be quite good for cleaning jeans anyway.

We are carrying about 160 gallons of fresh water, but try to use it sparingly because of limited filling possibilities.

It is only meant for drinking and cooking, and sometimes I take a cupful of fresh water and use it for brushing teeth and washing myself. Talk about saving!

As you might remember 'Helen S.' had a nice coat of new paint on when we left, but by now salt water has made many rusty spots on the deck and on the outside hull.

WILL I LOVE IT...OR HATE IT?

It was nice to sail past New York City without stepping on its busy streets. The Statue of Liberty, and a feeling of freedom when entering the Atlantic Ocean - challenging, promising, trying and threatening.

I don't know whether I am going to love it or hate it!

Our first overnight sailing experience was when we left Sandy Hook for Cape May.

We made sure, through the radio, that the weather was good, especially when our fearless friends Mr. and Mrs. Barnes and Paul, on their 'No Name, No Frills' were following us all that 120 miles which we sailed within 24 hours.

Everyone had their share on deck duty, though two of us were seasick again, and the bunk seemed to be the best place to stay. And it wasn't even rough!

By afternoon, Sept. 11, we arrived at Cape May where we still are while writing this.

One of our crew members, Cliff, from Kingston, decided that a sailor's life was not for him, and yesterday he packed his things and left us to go back home.

I hope no one is envying us anymore, because the sailor's life is not only thrills as many seem to think. It is hard work, adjustment for changes all around you, observing the weather carefully - a force you cannot control, coping with all sorts of other problems and making right decisions in the right time.

But still, there are those thrills too. You almost become part of nature if you allow yourself to have challenge and a feeling of freedom, and in our case a destination with a mission.

In general, things are going well. Bill might have a few more grey hairs by the time we get to the Dominican Republic, and occasional 'seamanship' gets some of us.

LIBRARY NOTES

New fiction includes MacHardy's 'Blowdown' a suspense novel about an oil-rig accident and a mystery by Gerald A. Browne (author of '11 Harrowhouse') called 'Green Ice'.

New reference books include comprehensive atlas of British Columbia and 'The Encyclopedia of Opera' as well as two manuals for coaching softball and soccer. There is also a beautiful, full-colour volume called 'The Art of Alex Colville'.

Juniors will like 'The Young Engineer book of Supercars' and Sequerra's 'Motorcycles'. There is a book of riddles called 'What's Up Duck', a mystery called 'The Ghost of Five Owl Farm', and an informative book on 'Volcanoes'.

For the little ones there is 'Timmy Tiger to the Rescue'.

The library staff fears that the plastic Library bag has gone the way of the carrier pigeon since Regional's budget will no longer support their purchase.

By-election likely at Tyendinaga

The Federal Ministry of Indian Affairs has recommended that a by-election be held on the Tyendinaga Reserve to fill the vacancy left open when that same Department decided to overthrow the election of Councillor Thomas B. Maracle. The reason Councillor T. Maracle lost his post, according to the Indian Affairs ruling, was because two non-resident voters cast ballots.

The recommendation was made during an Ottawa meeting with representatives of the Federal Department and representatives of the Band.

Those attending from the Mohawk Reserve were Chief Earl Hill, Councillors Audrey Brant and Roger Brant, Shirley Green, electoral officer Tom Maracle, and Danny Brant, assistant to the Minister of Indian Affairs.

There has been no regular council meeting since the

'There has been no regular council meeting since the Ottawa meeting,' Audrey Brant said. 'We expect to have one Tuesday night. It is up to the Chief and council to set a date for a by-election.'

stargazing

An area of the sky imagined by ancient peoples to be a great celestial sea stretches at maptime (10 p.m. mid-October) from the southeast to the southwest. This part of the sky is occupied by the so-called 'watery' constellations — sea symbols such as Pisces the Fishes, Cetus the Sea Monster or Whale, Delphinus the Dolphin, Piscis Austrinus the Southern Fish (identified on the map by its one bright star Fomalhaut), Capricornus the Sea Goat (with the head and front legs of a goat attached to the tail of a fish the most bizarre of all these water creatures) and Aquarius the Water Bearer whose water bucket is depicted on some ancient maps as the source of Eridanus, the Rivr Po. Eridanus and Grus, the Wading Bird or Crane, number among the constellations of the sea but they are located too far south to be seen from our latitudes.

None of these constellations is particularly distinctive but they can be identified without a great deal of trouble if the observing site is good and binoculars are used to sweep the sky.

Pisces, the most easterly constellation of the group is represented as two fishes one on either side of the great square of Pegasus tied together with a V-shaped ribbon. The faint star marking the point of the V, named Al Risha by ancient Arabs, is familiarly called the 'Knot Star'.

OCTOBER

Depicted on early maps as a creature unlike any known to man Cetus was referred to by the ancients as the 'Dusky Monster' and 'Chaos of the Deep'. More recently it has been considered a symbol of Jonah's Whale and Job's Leviathan.

Delphinus, a lovely little constellation consisting of five stars is now high in the south when the sky darkens. Legend relates that when on a sea voyage the famous poet and musician Arion became aware that jealous sailors plotted to kill him, he played his lute and attracted a school of dolphins. One of them bore him to safety on its back and for this deed was honoured by being placed among the stars.

Capricornus, an inconspicuous V-shaped formation, was sometimes referred to as 'Pan' by the early Greeks for the god who terrorized people by his very presence. From this we get our word 'panic'.

On all old maps, except those of the Arabs, Aquarius is represented as a man pouring water from a jar. Because it was forbidden the Arabs to draw the human figure they adopted the water jar, or in some cases mules carrying containers of water as the symbol for this constellation. Maps show water from the jar of Aquarius pouring into the mouth of Piscis Austrinus the Southern Fish.

As mentioned earlier the bright star Fomalhaut pinpoints the otherwise inconspicuous Piscis Austrinus. The only bright star in this region of sky it is often called the 'Solitary One.'

PLANETS: Mornings are for planet watchers now for Jupiter and Saturn have joined Venus in the predawn sky. Venus is still the most brilliant morning 'star'. From mid-month on Jupiter and Saturn close in on Venus in an ever changing configuration that is somewhat rare and lovely enough to reward early risers.

DESERONTO

Cars have become such a major part of our society that we tend to take them for granted. For most they are just a means of transportation and nothing more.

For some, however, they have become a big part of life. Some like to race them while others like to collect them and build them up into something fancy.

This 1929 Ford Roadster Hiboy is owned by Willy Martin of the Tyendinage Reserve. The 273 motor inside, along with the running gear, was transplanted from a 1968 Barracuda. At the steering wheel is Amber Martin and beside her is her sister, Star.

Willy said that they have had the car for one and a half years. It was up for sale a year ago but Amber didn't want to see it sold so it was kept and will be given to Amber when it is finished. The car has been sitting at Dick's Garage for a while and Willy said he owes a lot to Dick Brant for his assistance and use of the shop.

This beauty is a 1937 Dodge Coupe owned by Ron Brooks of Deseronto. It has a 1968 Oldsmobile engine and drive train in it. It also has a Cain Automatic along with power steering and power brakes. Ron has had the car for eight years.

This car is a familiar sight around Deseronto. It is a green 1955 Chevy driven by Mary Hird. She and her father, Lou Hird, purchased this vehicle four years ago down in Kentucky. Mary said that she and her Dad have fixed it up and have entered it in various car shows. It has also performed in drag races. Mary said she used to race it two years ago down at the airport. The insides of the car are pretty well all high performance. It has a four-barrel dual exhaust engine along with paze track. The gear shift is a first four on the floor.

This silver beauty is driven by Mary E. Hird, whose daughter, Mary Hird drives a 1955 Chevy. This is a 1947 Ford Coupe with all original parts. Previously made into a stock car, this automobile was rebuilt back to its original state by Mrs. Hird and her husband. She said that Lou, who was used to making stock cars out of this type of vehicle, had to reverse the whole process in his mind when building the car back up. Mrs. Hird, who used to race stock cars, says she prefers to drive this type of car rather than a new one.

This 1953 Ford truck is owned by yet another member of the Hird family. She is Jody, daughter of Lou Hird. She has had the truck a little over a year and entered it in a couple of shows this summer. Besides putting the big tires on, she has replaced the original motor with a 351 Windsor.

Here we have a 1957 Thunder Bird owned by Wayne VanDeBogart, owner of the Watch Chalet in Napanee. It is a beautiful car, well worth the $3,000 that the VanDeBogarts will have to put into it to get the body in tip top shape.

Limited access lifted on Highway 49

There are 'For Sale' signs up on some of the properties along Highway 49 which belong to the Ontario Ministry of Transportation and Communications.

And some people have been wondering what anyone would do with a property abutting on a highway which was designated as a 'limited access' highway when it was constructed.

Would such a property be 'landlocked'... how would you get in and out of it if you did buy it.

Well, the name to call, according to the 'For Sale' signs, was D. Osbourne and the Scanner did call him.

Mr. Osbourne who is with the MTC property office in Kingston, told us that the 'limited access' designation was lifted during the past year.

When Highway 49 was first constructed, the speed limit along it was 60 m.p.h. This was later lowered to 50 m.p.h., or to translate, 80 kmh now.

But just because the highway is not now a limited access doesn't mean you can construct an entrance to it anywhere you want to.

'You still require a permit from the Ministry,' said Gordon Way, clerk for Sophiasburgh Township (in which the properties are located).

As for the use which could be made of the properties, that would depend on Sophiasburgh's zoning by-laws.

QUINTE NEWS ROUND UP

POST OFFICE CONTRACT

Jack Ellis, MP, Prince Edward/Hastings, has informed us that a contract has been awarded by Public Works to Wiegier De Jongh Construction Ltd. of Stirling for renovations to the Government of Canada Building in Deseronto.

The contract is for $84,649.

QUINTE ARTS COUNCIL

The Quinte Arts Council has a busy schedule of events lined up for October.

PLANNING TO RETIRE

Paul Burd who has been principal of the Prince Edward Collegiate for the past 11 years, has notified the board that he will be retiring at the end of June.

In his letter of resignation he said, 'My 11 years here have been exciting, frustrating and fulfilling, all at the same time.'

There have been few dull moments.

And any one who has teenagers to deal with will know exactly what he meant.

OH THOSE RISING EDUCATION COSTS!!

Forty-five administrative personnel at Hastings County Education Centre, have been awarded salary increases of between five and 12 percent, bringing the top salary paid to the director of education to $52,600 ... an increase for Director Bruce Mather of $4,300.

The salary increases were recommended by the Hav

Associates report. Hay Associates is an international firm of employee compensation specialists, which looked at the 45 positions ranging from Director of Education to resource technicians.

Les Stevens, chairman of the academic staff board relations committee said, 'It is a justifiable salary...the director of education for the Peterborough earns $56,800'.

Whether the voters feel the raises were 'justifiable' remains to be seen...at election time.

PLEADS GUILTY

Robert James Claxton of Picton, who had been charged with four counts of indecent assault on males, pleaded guilty to one charge of indecent assault on a juvenile male when he appeared in Family Court in Picton on Monday. The other charges were withdrawn by the Crown.

He was remanded out of custody for sentence on November 17.

HURT IN ACCIDENT

On Tuesday morning, a serious accident occurred at Metcalfe Foods in Deseronto.

According to the Deseronto Police, Dave Deshane of Roblin lost part of his leg on a cutting machine in the plant.

Mr. Deshane was taken by ambulance to the Nanapsee Hospital and then transferred to hospital in Kingston.

HAPPENINGS

Recent visitors at the home of Mr. and Mrs. M. Cummings of Mill Street were their niece and nephew, Bob and Margaret Scrimgeour of Toronto, and Neil Huffman, Sydenham, London, England.

COMPELLED TO REPLY

Dear Editor:

After reading Mr. and Mrs. Duffy's letter in last week's Scanner, I am compelled to reply.

Firstly, regarding the remarks to Dr. Meredith about Fourth Street being a County Road, I believe something should be clarified. In 1975, under direction of the council of that time, our reeve applied pressure in County council concerning the County Road, which includes not only Fourth Street, but Main Street as well. He stressed the need for major improvement since the road is in a strategic location. This intervention saw the beginning of reconstruction for Fourth St. in a 3-stage process which was completed in 1979. County council gave approval and granted the funds but had it not been for our council and reeve, the road might not look so respectable with its curbs and good sidewalks.

Secondly, I feel your criticism of the Mill Street reconstruction was unwarranted. Due to heavy equipment travelling this street it was decided to repair it first. Planning was engineered by a capable engineering firm, reconstruction by a competent local contractor and our streets department crew, and paving was done by a reputable construction company. Mill Street has held up well, especially when you consider the use it receives. I admit there are no curbs but work was done with the funds available to us and not everything can be accomplished at once. We must creep before we can walk. Hopefully all our streets will have curbs and sidewalks one day. In the meantime, however, we must do the best we can with what money we have to work with.

Lastly, but not the least, I take great exception to your remarks about me. You stated I promised you asphalt topping on the sidewalk in front of your home and you're still waiting for it. When I heard you wished to speak to me I made a point of calling you, only to learn your phone number is unlisted. Finally, through a third party whom I contacted, the connection was made. During our conversation I most certainly did promise you asphalt topping on your sidewalk since I felt it was a necessity. But, if you will remember, I said the resurfacing would be done in the fall because at the time of our discussion the streets department crew was busy with water and road re-construction. This was perfectly acceptable to you and I did not indicate that you should or would be expected to share any cost involved. Had you recently taken the short time required to look at the southern end of College Street you would have noticed that resurfacing of the sidewalk is in progress. It will continue up the street and include the portion of sidewalk in front of your home. It will be done as our streets employees have the time and be completed before the end of October, which is still the fall. I might add that work commenced on September 19 which was previous to your letter to the editor.

It's a shame you felt the need to try to defame me in public before making sure no effort was being made to satisfy my commitment to you. Patience is a virtue; too bad you have none.

THE DUFFYS' FAUX PAS

Dear Editor:

Allow me to congratulate Mr. Duffy on his self-restraint. I really thought he intended to trace his wife's illustrious, tri-cultural lineage back to Hiawatha, Napoleon Bonaparte, or perhaps even William the Conqueror.

I fail to see what bearing this genealogical dissertation has on his private quarrel with Deseronto council, or what it is in Jean McConnell's letter that stung enough to provoke such a vitriolic diatribe. Surely Mr. Duffy cannot feel the need to prove himself to the people of Deseronto?

Jean merely stated the obvious. The facts are on record in the files in Deseronto library, might shatter Mrs. Duffy's idyllic memories to discover that the Deseronto of her childhood was a decrepit, disheartened little ghost town, with nowhere to go but up. What were those magnificent ex-mayors, such intimate friends of the Duffys, doing to let the town sink to such depths? They were doing the best they could with the funds available, exactly as the present council does. This council is not perfect — far from it, but what body of elected officials can ever please everyone? Council is, at best, a compromise and a rubber stamp for Queen's Park.

I have had cause to bring a property dispute before the council and found that they were tactful, fair and effective.

As for the people of Deseronto — they are just people. The inhabitants of small communities are the same the world over, no matter their country of origin. After an initial period of assessment they will take you as they find you. Politeness and understanding will be repaid with friendship, ill manners and arrogance with antagonism.

Mr. Duffy speaks of his 'bluntness' with pride. Unfortunately many in this community construe it as rudeness, especially when it is aimed at people they know and respect. Dr. Meredith is a gentleman. Too much of a gentleman to use 'mediaeval methods' on the Duffys should they ever require emergency dental treatment. Also Mr. Duffy would be well advised to know his adversary before indulging in a genealogical put-down. Jean McConnell has lived in close proximity to Deseronto for years, and she, like hundreds of others in this area is perfectly entitled to use the letters UEL after her name, although, of course, good taste and modesty forbid this.

One final word on the Duffys' faux pas in saying Jean is merely Bess Wares' hireling (with the implication that her letter was written to order). Jean is not accountable to Bess for any part of her duties, and I am in a position to know. Although we do not dictate the contents of the Scanner, Mr. Duffy, my husband and I own it. We write the paycheques, and we too have been inundated with complaints — not about Deseronto — about you.

BEAUTIFULLY SCENIC TOWN

Dear Editor:

Perhaps what I have to say may not mean much to the residents of Deseronto, but I have been vacationing here at Flamingo Trailer Park every summer for three years now and I find Deseronto to be a beautifully scenic town.

I live in the city of St. Catharines but would prefer to live in Deseronto. The citizens here are much warmer and friendlier than in many of the big cities. There are too many small towns like Deseronto being rubbed off the map and being replaced by cement tombstones.

The residents of Deseronto are doing their very best to fix up and maintain their homes.

As I have already mentioned, many of you may not pay any attention to what a fifteen year old has to say, but I think my opinion is as good as anyone else's.

The first law of the New Age is that man should know his own self and know those things which lead to loftiness or baseness, to shame or honor, to affluence or poverty. The right path leads man to clearer perception and knowledge. To possessors of wisdom this spiritual sight is the guide of knowledge.

IN MEMORIAM

IN MEMORIAM

In loving memory of my dear mother, Mildred Eleanor Brant, who passed away two years ago September 26, 1980.

Today is a day for Remembrances
And many sad regrets.
This day we will always remember
When the rest of the world forgets.
Our hearts still ache with sadness,
And secret tears still flow,
Oh, what it meant to love you
No one will ever know.
For you can only have one Mother
Patient, kind and true,
No other friend in all the world
Will be as true to you.
To those who have a mother,
Cherish her with care,
For you'll never know the heartache
Until you see she ain't there.

Sadly missed but not forgotten by daughter Diane and close friend Garnet Sparks.

IN MEMORIAM

In loving memory of my dear Nana, Mildred Eleanor Brant, who passed away two years ago September 26, 1980.

It's lonesome here without you Nana
We miss you more and more each day,
Somehow life doesn't seem the same
Since you have gone away.
Our hearts still ache with sadness
Our eyes shed many a tear,
Wishing God had saved you,
For just a few more years.

Sadly missed but never forgotten
by grandchildren Tim, Robert, Clayton and John Brant.

IN MEMORIAM

In loving memory of a very dear mother, Mildred Eleanor Brant, who passed away two years ago September 26, 1980.

Mom is such a special word,
A word that brings to mind
A big warm smile, a helping hand,
A way of being kind.
Devotion to the family,
A world of patience too,
Mom is such a special word
Because it stands for you.

Sadly missed but never forgotten
by daughter Irene, Don, Chuck

A comprehensive economic study...including an agricultural study, with emphasis on how to enhance crop and livestock production...of the land and water resources of the South Nation River basin is underway. The land are to be studied covers 1,500 square miles. The source of the river is near Brockville and it empties into the Ottawa River about 40 km from the Ontario-Quebec border. Announcement of contracts awarded for the studies was made jointly by the Federal Department of Regional Economic Expansion (DREE) and the Government of Ontario, who are funding 90 % of the undertaking under the terms of the $50 million Eastern Ontario Subsidiary Agreement signed by the two Governments last December. The cost of the studies is shared equally by the two governments.

Canada-China agricultural cooperation has taken another step forward with the signing of a Memorandum of understanding which calls for intensified cooperation between the two countries in several areas, including joint projects, exchanges of information, and materials, scientific visits and commercial contacts. The first activity to be carried out under the Memorandum will be the visit to Canada of a Chinese delegation studying agricultural legislation.

Region 3, Ontario, of the National Farmers Union, presented a submission on a proposal for a Potato marketing agency for Eastern Canada, on September 8, to the National Farm Products Marketing Council. The brief reconfirmed the NFU policy for orderly marketing for all commodities, emphasizing it is in the interests of consumers as well as farmers and the fact potato marketing has for too long lacked the advantages of orderly marketing.

Lorne Conrad, Powasson, has been appointed as a new member of the Farm Credit member of the Farm Credit Corporation. He is the second farmer to have served on the board. 'It is of great importance to have an active farmer on the FCC board to better reflect the ideas of Canadian farmers and consequently help us serve them better,' Agriculture Minister Eugene Whelan said.

The G. Howard Ferguson Forest Station at Kemptville, shipped over 9 million seedlings for reforestation programs last spring. The station is also experimenting to learn more about the effects of pesticides, using greenhouse growing methods, and producing hybrid poplars to produce maximum growth in specific conditions.

Canadian honey production this year will be below last year's level, but both price and volume of honey exports should be up, according to Agriculture Canada. Unfavourable weather conditions during the key producing months caused the drop in production. Ontario honey extracted so far this year has a higher than normal moisture content and the province's total production is expected to be down. Honey prices and exports will likely rise because of reduced honey production in other countries, particularly in the southern hemisphere.

A record Canadian apple harvest is expected this year according to figures from Agriculture Canada. Apple production is estimated to be more than 475,000 tonnes and is expected production will continue to climb in the next few years. Growth in the demand for apples and apple products both at home and abroad is expected to keep pace with the larger production.

Ontario Historical Society last met in Napanee in 1912

The Museum Section of the Ontario Historical Society will be holding its annual conference in Napanee, October 16, 17 and 18. Approximately 100 delegates from various Historical Societies across the province are expected to be present for the proceedings.

This event is worthy of note: the Ontario Historical Society has not met in Napanee since 1912. A review of the events that took place that year may be of interest.

The year 1912 was one of the most outstanding years for the young Lennox and Addington Historical Society, which had been formed five years previous in 1907.

During 1912, the 30th annual meeting of the Ontario Historical Society was held in Napanee. Interest in, and support of this occasion was demonstrated by the Town of Napanee, not just the Society's membership.

The town was gaily decorated for the occasion. June 5, 6 and 7 there were 'flags and bunting flying from every conceivable place'. An evergreen arch supported by an electric sign bearing the word, 'Welcome' was erected by the town at the corner of Dundas and John Streets, Napanee. The Post Office was decorated under authority from the Dominion Government.

Clarence Warner, president of the Historical Society, had requested the purchase of five Canadian flags to drape over the Post Office, amounting to $50. Warner, himself, offered to pay expenses in excess of the $50 the Post Office was authorized to spend.

The flag, emblem of the Canadian Nation and the British Empire was essential to the Society's affirmation of Canadian identity. The flag had been lauded by Barlow

Cumberland, President of the Ontario Historical Society, 1907-10 as the representation of 'love of country, defence of home, and all that is glorious in Canada's history, particularly the liberty that is provided by British constitutional principles'.

The flags that so gaily decorated the town were more than decoration. They were a visual representation of one of the founding purposes of local Historical Societies: the cultivation of an awareness of the past that would result, ideally, in the development of a Canadian Character loyal to the British Canadian heritage.

The official printed programme listed the session speakers and topics. The programme concentrated on the events and results of the War of 1812. The year 1912 marked the Centennial of the War that had played such an important role in determining the future of the British Colonies. Relics of the War of 1812 were displayed courtesy of Alexander Clark Casselman, North Bay. Mrs. A. Harshaw, Regent of the local Chapter of the I.O.D.E., unveiled a memorial tablet which had been purchased by the I.O.D.E. to commemorate the first meeting held in Canada to celebrate the centennial of the War of 1812. Napanee was thereby accorded a prominent place in perpetrating the memory of the significance of the War of 1812.

The following day, Friday June 6, the steamer Brockville sailed with the delegates and their friends to Adolphustown, via the Napanee River and Long Reach. The Adolphustown Women's Institute provided a lunch in the 'grove near the exact landing place of the United Empire Loyalists'. After the lunch, a trip was made to the landing place, the Memorial Church and the first cemetery. Prior to arrival in Adolphustown a detour was made into Hay Bay, so the delegates could catch 'a glimpse of the first Methodist Church in Upper Canada and the first Canadian home of Sir John A. Macdonald.'

The focus of the 1980 meeting of the Ontario Historical Society is 'Marketing Your Museum'. In 1976 the County of Lennox and Addington and the Lennox and Addington Historical Society officially opened the County Museum which houses the archival collection of the Society, complemented by an art collection. It, along with the Allan Macpherson House, will reaffirm the reputation of the Lennox and Addington Historical Society.

OPP recommend that every hunter carry a survival kit

Each year during hunting season, the Ontario Provincial Police must commit a large proportion of its manpower and resources to searches for lost hunters.

Starting October 16, an OPP helicopter will be operating out of the Chapleau area during the busiest part of the season. It will be available for patrol and search assignments.

Trappers and bush workers soon learn to respect their environment. The bush can be a hostile place unless you are fit, healthy and know survival techniques.

Provincial police recommend that every hunter carry a survival kit, compass and topographical map of the area where they are hunting.

No hunter should go into the bush unless someone knows where he will be hunting and when to expect him back.

A survival kit is a necessity for the hunter. A small package with waterproof matches, aluminum foil, fishing hook and line, and some high-energy foods takes up very little room and could make the difference between life and death.

Survival kits like this are available commercially and come wrapped in plastic so they are completely waterproof.

First aid supplies are a must. They should include large dressings for treating serious lacerations and broken bones as well as bandages for minor cuts.

The old trick of blazing a trail is still good. A heavy knife will do the job. A knife will also be essential if a hunter does lose his bearings and has to spend a night in the bush.

Add a hank of good nylon cord and the kits are complete.

The words to remember are: 'Stay where you are if you do get lost'. With this equipment on hand, the hunter will be ready for the worst. It's light, not too cumbersome and could mean survival.

The main enemy is not cold nights and bad weather. It is panic.

Back to nature and life in a cave

By TERRY SPRAGUE

Anyone accustomed to a daily fare of roast beef, ice cream and plenty of coffee laced with lots of sugar probably would not enjoy dining out at one home in Brighton.

Elias and Naeima Wakans decided a year ago to leave the affluence of the city behind them, and 'live much as primitive man once did.'

A one-time social worker, Naeima explained they wished to leave a world of time schedules and pay more attention to proper health. Elias said he was tired of flushing his toilet leaving its disposal to the care of someone else, then drinking it again in a so-called purified state.

'We want to take as much responsibility for ourselves as we can,' continued Naeima.

The couple purchased five acres of land on the southern outskirts of Brighton and constructed an underground, one-room shelter out of concrete. The structure is designed in such a way to take advantage of the sun on the south side, but is built into a self-made hillside and covered with more than a foot of earth to provide insulation during the winter.

Elias, a former carpenter, had formal training in solar energy and used his expertise in designing and building the shelter. The couple is not interested in making money; in fact, they have adjusted their lifestyle to the point where a few dollars a week earned from making crafts and writing a column in a Brighton newspaper covers their meagre needs.

The Wakans are learning to live off their five acres. 'I don't know if we'll ever reach total self-sufficiency. We know we will make mistakes along the way.'

Their meals consist of nettles, milkweed, lamb's-quarters, crab apples, pennycress, wild grapes, leeks, cattails and elderberries, all of which grow wild and when prepared properly taste delectable. Nettles are delicious, claim the Wakans, and are high in nutrients. The milkweed can be eaten at four different stages in their growth.

The Wakans have learned much on the preparation of wild foods from books they have acquired. Their tea is made from goldenrod, and milk is produced from soybeans.

They also have a small garden and expect to expand the variety of foods they grow next year. 'We want to grow more root crops to store over winter and try to grow our own grain,' said Elias. They grind their own flour as well as make their own bread, hand pump their water and make their own clothes.

Their new lifestyle has given them more time to create their own tools and necessities as well as help their neighbours when the need arises.

'I now have the time to do what I was paid thirty dollars an hour for in Toronto. I can listen to people,' said Naeima.

Any time that remains the Wakans work at making crafts and improving their shelter. 'We do everything by hand and are learning the principals of the lever. It's amazing, with this knowledge, what two people can accomplish by themselves.'

Gradually the Wakans are learning from their mistakes. Last Winter they ran short on food and almost starved to death before a new crop of wild plants emerged in the spring. 'We ate a lot of red peppers in all our foods. We wouldn't think of making a soup without red peppers. They keep you warm in the winter,' stressed Naeima.

The Wakans emphasize their way of life might not be for everyone. 'It is hard work every day. Today's life makes you lazy. Compared to the way the pioneers lived, we are just vacationing.'

Tea and lunch anyone! Milkweed makes a delicious dish and tea can be made from goldenrod, claim Elias and Naeima Wakans of Brighton who have left their affluent life style for a more simple way of life.

Tough new laws will deter trespassing.

How we're helping to protect you and your property.

For nearly 150 years Ontario has had a law making it an offence to enter property where entry is prohibited. But now new legislation—The Trespass to Property Act—has toughened up the law to protect your rights.

Trespassers can now be fined up to $1,000. In addition, they can be ordered to pay for damages they have caused.

An important part of the legislation designates premises where entry is prohibited without notice. These include your gardens, orchards, vineyards, land under cultivation, woodlots and fenced land.

Where notice must be given to prohibit entry, you may use red markings on gates, trees or fences. Yellow markings may be used to caution that only certain activities may be permissible. It is the responsibility of the visitor to find out what you permit.

LAND USED FOR RECREATION
In the past, there was a great deal of confusion regarding your responsibility to people you allow on your land. Consequently many farmers and recreational landholders would not allow recreational activities on their properties.

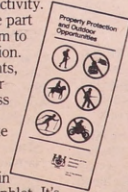

Now another new act—The Occupiers' Liability Act—reduces your responsibility. In a nutshell, the law assumes that those who take their recreation on most rural land without paying a fee will take care for their own safety.

A special system has been devised to allow you to easily indicate which activities you will allow on your property. A sign naming or graphically representing an activity (for example, hiking) indicates that the activity is permitted. The same kind of sign with an oblique stroke through it means that you prohibit the activity.

These new laws are part of a continuing program to streamline our legislation. By clarifying your rights, they afford you greater protection from trespass and also reduce your liability when you make land available for recreational purposes.

Lena Cummings will run again in Deseronto

Two years ago, when Lena Cummings ... along with the rest of the Deseronto Town Council went into office by acclamation, she told the Scanner that, as the only woman on council, she was hoping for co-operation from the men.

'I'll try and get along, but I'm bull headed,' she said.

Some of the things she wanted did get done during the past two years ... a curfew for children and the passing of an anti-noise by-law.

But she still thinks there is a lot to be done in the way of property improvement and help for senior citizens ... such as shovelling of sidewalks.

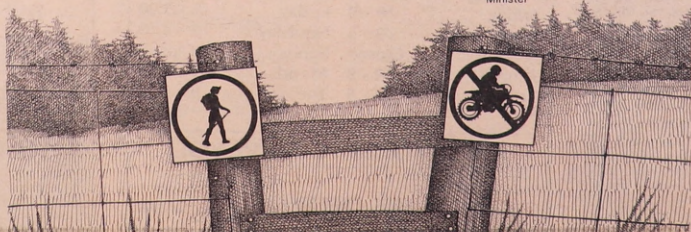

She says she wants to be involved in getting even more things done and has thrown her hat into the ring as a candidate for another two-year term.

LESS VIOLENCE — MORE FUN

Last year, in Hastings County alone, 38 youngsters sustained sports-related dental injuries ... eleven of them while playing hockey.

Eleven may not sound very high for a whole county, but the injuries that occurred were 'devastating' (that's a quote from the Hastings and Prince Edward Counties Health Unit), sometimes involving up to six teeth. And there was a dramatic increase in the average cost for the restoration of a dental-sports injury ... $1,010.

Dental injuries aren't the only kind sustained by young hockey players. They get eye, and other injuries, too.

Dr. Tom Pashby of Toronto has been keeping statistics on sports injuries to the face, eyes and head and has been treating hockey injuries for over 30 years.

'Some coaches seem to instill the philosophy it doesn't matter how you play as long as you win,' Dr. Pashby said. 'This, of course, creates injuries and hockey has got to become safer if it is to survive.'

Last March, a 107-page report from the Ontario Hockey Council said... loud and clear... that the attitudes of everybody involved in minor hockey must change or the sport could become extinct in Canadian society. The report commented on such issues as hockey skills development, parental behaviour at games, quality of coaches and referees, violence in the games and offered 119 recommendations.

There are about 250,000 children under the age of 18 playing organized hockey in the province.

When the Ontario Government received the OHC report, it put up $2 million to be spent during the next three years to improve the minor hockey system.

It is gratifying to note that some changes have already been introduced in minor hockey for the upcoming season, which should go a long way to reducing the chance of injuries and, at the same time, increasing the skill-learning and the fun.

One of the new rules is that body checking is out for novice to peewee age groups (5 or 6 to 12 years old).

'There's less chance of injury now,' one local parent told the Scanner. 'The heavy kids used to depend on their weight. They'll have to learn to be more skillful now.'

And, another move in the right direction is to make players in the novice to atom groups (up to 10 years old) complete their penalty minutes.

Bird's Eye View

Well, Thanksgiving time is here again, and according to the old hymn all should be safely gathered in. Down to our place that ain't so. Elma's garden ain't been nipped by no frost yet, and we're still picking tomatoes. Mind you, same as always there's going to be a pile of green ones left again this year, so I reckon she'll be trying to pickle as many as she can so they don't go to waste. Our tomatoes come on late this year, but they sure do good when they got started. Reckon it must be from a fair year for the field crops as well.

I were talking to a real old feller the other day, eighty six years old he is, and he were telling me how he's earned himself $300 dollars picking tomatoes this year. He were getting 35¢ a basket for 'em, so that's a fair amount of picking for an old guy. But he figured he come out all right, reckon for them as remember picking a whole big bushel for 5¢, 35¢ a basket must look like real good money.

He did say that he couldn't keep up with them Jamaican workers though. He reckoned some of them boys was earning $70 a day, just picking tomatoes. He says they sure move when they're on the job.

Only hope I'm in shape to go tomato picking when I'm in my eighties. He's a real character is this old boy, now he's off deer hunting to spend his earnings.

I were asking him if he's shot any geese this year, and he said no he hadn't, though there's been plenty around. I recall

Onville S.
well.

I ain't bothered with hunting too much since I got myself some of these here Muskoka ducks. Having them sitting around fat and juicy for the picking sure takes the edge off wanting to go out in the cold and wet to shoot them stringy little wild 'uns. Mind you, now and again I go out, more for the old dog's sake. I ain't even sure that's a good idea. My aim's gone all to hell, and he sure gives me some real disgusted looks when I start in to banging away and I miss and there ain't nothing for him to fetch.

Just goes to show I'm getting old, don't it. Reckon when I'm in my eighties I'll be rocking on the porch, not going out tomato picking.

Dancers keep culture alive

By MICHAEL HAYWARD

The Quinte Mohawk Dancers are a group of students from the Mohawk School on the Tyndinaga Reserve who perform Indian dances. Although they are only a small group of children and the group has been in existence for just ten years, their influence on the revival of Indian culture has been significant.

Lorraine Hill, the teacher who began the Quinte Mohawk Dancers has been instructing the students of her Grade three and four classes since the fall of 1970.

The fact that the Indian culture was fast disappearing into the past was, perhaps, the main motivating force behind her starting the dance instruction. Lorraine said, for example, that previous attempts to get an adult dancing class going were unsuccessful because of lack of interest.

The event which finally pushed the Quinte Mohawk Dancers into existence, however, was the Mohawk Landing of 1970. Lorraine said that some dancers from another reserve had been invited to perform at the event but never showed up. That is when she decided to at least try and get the children involved so that they could have their own local dancers perform at future Mohawk Landings.

In fact, the Quinte Mohawk

Dancers gave their first performance at the Landing of the following year.

They also danced at Deseronto's Centennial celebrations which took place in that same year of 1971. They have gone from there to perform at numerous events, and even danced for the Queen when she visited Kingston in 1973. They have given performances at Toronto's Caravan Week and in front of its city hall.

Lorraine had to first learn the dances herself. In the first year she was taught five dances which came from the St. Regis Reserve. The next year she went to the Reserve at Brantford and learned some more.

She now teaches her students about a dozen dances. Many of them are named after animals like the racoon dance, the rabbit dance or the fish dance.

She says they are all dances of the Longhouse and originate back to times long before the coming of the white man.

Lorraine hopes for the Quinte Mohawk Dancers to get into competitive dancing. This would mean having to learn more dances as well as acquiring a more elaborate native dress because contestants are not only judged for their dancing but also on the Indian apparel they wear.

Lorraine furthermore hopes for the establishment of a singers' club on the Tyndinaga Reserve. The singers are the group which chant the music for the dances. As is now stands, singers must be invited from another reserve when having a social dance.

It is significant to note that a singing group invited to the social dance at this year's Mohawk Landing never showed up. Could this be a sign that the time has come to establish a Tyndinaga Singing Club? Time will tell.

There is no meaning to the chants that accompany Indian dances, but each dance has its own particular chant. The Robin Dance, for example would be accompanied by one chant while the Round Dance would have another chant of its own.

The singers usually start off slow and then go faster and faster. This encourages the dancers to get more into the dance.

Lorraine is pleased with the results of the dance class. 'They seem to have a lasting effect,' she said. 'Once they learn the dances they never seem to forget them.'

When the travelling college from the St. Regis Reserve performed here, some of her former students took part and did well, showing that they still remembered the steps.

'People are impressed with the dancers and they are always very well received,' Lorraine said, 'we have to turn down a lot of invitations because of lack of time.'

Lorraine feels that the Quinte Mohawk Dancers have helped bring back pride and respect for the Indian culture. They also introduce Indian customs to the non-native who has been, by and large, unaware of Indian ways.

Most important is that the dancing has given pride and confidence to the dancers themselves and to their culture. This being the case, then the efforts of Lorraine have been well worthwhile.

Napanee voters will need scorecard

It looks as if things are 'hotting up' for a good race when election time rolls around in Napanee, next month.

At Monday night's meeting of town council, two council members said they were planning to file nomination papers for mayor's spot, two for reeve and three for deputy reeve.

Before polling council members as to their intentions, Mayor Glenn Herrington had announced that he was not contesting the mayoralty but would run for any of the three top positions if it looked as if someone was going into any of them by acclamation. Mayor Herrington does intend to fill out nomination papers for a seat on council.

Reeve E. Marshall is intending to fill out two nomination papers

... one for reeve and the other for mayor. And Councillor Reg Vick may file a nomination paper for the position of mayor also.

Councillor Vick also intends to file nomination papers for the position of deputy reeve, as do Councillors Cummin Daverne and Herb Hayes.

Here is a rundown of nomination filing intentions for present council members (Councillor Jim Madden was not present at Monday night's meeting).

For deputy reeve ... Councillors Daverne, Vick and Herb Hayes.

COUNCIL BRIEFS

Council members were happy with the report from the auditing firm of Wilkinson and Company for the year 1979. The report showed a steady growth in assessment despite the lack of growth in population, and there was a drop in the total of taxes in arrears. Councillors felt the town was in a good shape financially but they were disappointed that the report had been left until such a late date.

Mr. Lewars from the accounting firm suggested that, to avoid this happening again, a monthly review be initiated. Cost of this was estimated at about $900 to initiate it and about $300 a month to carry it out. Council agreed this should be dealt with by an incoming council.

A grant of $400 will be given to help with the town's Santa Claus Parade.

The question of safety in the arena was raised. It was pointed out that some screws were loose in the boarding and someone could get hurt. The matter is being looked into.

Council supported a delegation from the volunteer fire fighters, in the matter of a grant for renovations.

A recommendation from the recreation committee to raise the recreation director's salary was left for the next council to decide.

A grant of $200 to each of the championship softball teams for travelling expenses to championship games was approved.

Councillor Clarence Milligan spoke of the smell from the Ault plant. He said he went to the plant and there was no bad smell at that time. He felt they were doing everything they could to find a solution.

The mayor and the reeve stressed there was a smell there but thought they would have to bear with it until a solution was found, of close the plant down.

At a special meeting of council, held on September 15, a by-law was passed authorizing the purchase of the former steam plant under the Community Centre Contribution Program. Plans are to convert it into a usable community centre.

At Monday night's meeting, council discussed the use to be made of the centre.

One suggestion was that a representative from each of the groups which might want to make use of the centre attend a special meeting to provide input. Further definite has yet been decided on how the centre would be used.

Do you know what Jim Waterbury of Edmond Street, Deseronto, is holding in his hand? You would if you are old enough to have had to change a tire back in the good old days when you had to fit the tire back on a rim, instead of just changing the whole wheel like you do today. Jim found this old rim spreader when he was cleaning out his garage. It was wrapped up in an old dress. He says he bought it in 1926 at a store that used to be across from Gibbards in Napanee.

Letters

PEACE, REEVE JOHNSTON

Dear Editor:

As did Reeve Bernard Johnston, so do I feel compelled to reply to his letter as printed in your edition of Wednesday, October 1, 1980.

First of all, I will not dwell on my so called quarrel with Deseronto Council. Secondly, I have no personal quarrel with Reeve Johnston. For the record, most of his letter was correct. My answer to Dr. Meredith's letter referred to Fourth Street. I accept Mr. Johnston's explanation, the facts of which I had already been informed. I also agree that Fourth and Main Streets are good accomplishments under the 3 stage process outlined by Reeve Johnston — however, I tend to disagree only to the point that I believe money could have been saved and the same results accomplished. What Reeve Johnston terms my 'criticism' of the Mill Street reconstruction is his opinion. Perhaps he is right, but many Mill Street residents in 1979 did not agree, and I spent most of the summer of 1979 at 125 Mill Street, where I heard first hand, the complaints. I do not challenge his assertion that a capable engineering firm and contractors did the paving job, nor do I disagree with his statement that in regards to funds, a town must creep before it walks. Should Mr. Johnston wish any further explanation on this, he may call me at any time.

I regret that Reeve Johnston takes great exception to remarks about him. He did indeed promise an asphalt topping on my sidewalk and he did indeed make a point of calling me when he heard I wished to speak to him (through another party because of my unlisted phone). Reeve Johnston did not indicate that I would be required to share any costs — nonetheless, I made this offer to Reeve Johnston, which he claimed was not necessary.

Perhaps I was remiss in not informing Reeve Johnston that employees of the Town of Deseronto had promised the necessary paving as soon as the machinery for paving was put into service, a promise not kept and my reason for asking to have Reeve Johnston call me. Reeve Johnston also had been given the impression that I was asking for a cement sidewalk with curbs. The necessity was, as Reeve Johnston says he felt, there — it has been documented.

When I said I was still waiting, I was telling it as it is. Reeve Johnston promised me that the sidewalk would be done 'piecemeal' or a few feet at a time as the work crews could spare time from their regular tasks and I agreed to that and thanked him. However, my memory does not fail me. The work was not the start in the fall, but as soon as possible. That was last Spring. I had no intention of personally trying to deface Reeve Johnston in public and regret that he construed my statement in that context. The emergency which occasioned my request is over and, while I will enjoy seeing some asphalt (which I have noticed at the south end of College Street), the exact timing is of no great import now.

I have a great deal of patience Reeve Johnston. If our conversation re the asphalt topping resulted in a misinterpretation, not purposely intended, rest assured my comments were in no way directed at you personally — which is more than I can say of other individuals (unfortunately few and badly misinformed or, even worse, making erroneous conclusions).

PEACE, Reeve Johnston. All things come to those who make honest efforts to improve.

ONE WAY STREET SUGGESTED

Dear Editor:

I would like to comment on Centre Street being a one way street at one time, from Thomas St. to Highway 2. This was not so long ago and I think it should be a one way street again to eliminate a lot of the problems for cars and pedestrians alike.

Council suggests having a four-way stop in place of the two-way stop at Thomas St. and Centre St., which is a good idea as some people do not observe the stop signs there at all times, but go another block north to Highway 2 and Centre St., where the school children have to cross four times daily.

They and their crossing guard have to cope with 4 directions of traffic, he not only has to help youngsters across on foot but also has to keep watch on the ones coming over the hill on bicycles.

Traffic seems pretty heavy at this area at school crossing times. By the way, this is also a bad corner for cars trying to cross No. 2. You almost have to be in the line of traffic to see the traffic coming from the east.

However, this is getting away from the main reason for this letter; so here's hoping Council decides on making Centre St. 'commonly known as Moon's Hill' in yesteryear a one-way street once again.

SOMETIMES WE MAKE MISTAKES

Dear Editor:

We in the Hird family thank you for last week's article in the Scanner about our antique vehicles.

However, there were a few inaccuracies that need to be corrected.

The green '55 Chev owned by Mary Hird was bought from a family friend, Jim Shier, of Marysville. It was he who brought the car up from Kentucky.

The particulars of this car are as follows: 350 Chev engine, rebuilt by Cartronics of Napanee; 4 barrel Rochester carb; muncii 4 speed transmission with a Hurst shift; 411 gear posi-trac rear end; new paint job by Pringles of Napanee.

The car has been entered in car shows in Napanee and Picton for the last three years.

The silver '47 coupe owned by Mary E. Hird was bought in August 'as it is' from used car dealer Bob Coleman in Belleville.

Lou Hird only did repair etc. necessary for the car to pass the safety check. His previous knowledge of these cars was a great help of course.

A DESERONTO BOOSTER FROM HAMILTON

Dear Madam:

I am a Deseronto booster. I grew up in Deseronto. I have lived in Hamilton since 1948.

I went to school in Deseronto from 1928 until goodness knows, I don't. I am now 63 years young.

I have been taking the Scanner for many years. Although the town and the people change, there are some I remember.

I recall all the good things about Deseronto. I don't think there were many bad.

I still love the Bay of Quinte. I get down there ten or fifteen times a year to fish or spend a week's holiday.

When people come from a big city to criticize a small town what are they doing there in the first place?

I kind of get choked up when I remember Deseronto and the good people of years ago. I remember Marjorie's father, Frank, his brothers Buff and Jim. Also all the Therriens. I didn't know Marjorie's mother is still living, she is sure one super Lady, as was her father.

I read in the Scanner all this controversy. I am sure this is all water under the bridge.

Marjorie is right about people going to the wells to get good drinking water. I sure remember that. I also remember Frank's Gosh all these things come back to me.

MAKE JEANS LAST LONGER

Dear Editor:

Here's a tip I ran across for making jeans last longer. Some of your readers may be interested.

Buy jeans that are extra long and make a deep hem that can be taken down next year.

Jeans washed frequently often have a white line left where the old hem was. You can camouflage this by buying a wax crayon the colour of the jeans and colouring in the line.

Then place a piece of paper towel over the area coloured and iron it. The paper towel will absorb the wax and the dye will penetrate the fabric. The crayon dye is quite wash resistant.

Hasty Pees celebrating their 60th anniversary

Lieutenant-General Howard D. Graham, former Chief of the Canadian Defence Staff, will be in his home town of Trenton on Thanksgiving weekend with his old comrades of the Hastings & Prince Edward Regiment, celebrating its 60th anniversary.

The 49th Hastings Rifles and the 16th Prince Edward Regiment which were amalgamated in 1920 were established in Loyalist country around the Bay of Quinte and sent men to the War of 1812. Trenton, where the Regiment first had its headquarters, is marking its centennial this year.

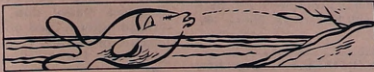

General Graham, who grew up on a farm near Trenton, went overseas as a teenager in the First World War and returned a sergeant. He joined the Hastings and Prince Edward Regiment as a young lawyer in 1923 with the rank of lieutenant.

In the 1930's he rose to the rank of major, combining militia service with wide experience in municipal government that included a year as Mayor of Trenton.

After going overseas in 1939 as second-in-command of the Regiment, he took command 40 years ago this fall in England and, in the next two years, brought this small town and rural regiment close to battle-readiness. He was given command of the superb 1st Canadian Infantry Brigade in which the Hastings and Prince Edward Regiment was grouped with the Royal Canadian Regiment of London, Ont., and the 48th Highlanders of Toronto.

The regiment's exploits in Sicily, Italy and Holland between 1943 and 1945 established it as the infantry unit against which all others were judged. The award of 31 battle honours after the war confirmed its supremacy.

General Graham will be the featured speaker at a banquet in the Trenton Knights of Columbus Hall on Sunday, October 12, at 1 p.m. He will be introduced by another of Canada's great infantry soldiers, Colonel Angus Duffy of Belleville, who also calls Trenton his home town.

QUINTE NEWS ROUND UP

OHPR GRANT

Grants totalling $912,761, under the Ontario Home Renewal Program have been allocated to 16 municipalities for homeowners to repair their houses.

Thurlow Township has received a grant of $39,469.

BRIDGE CONTRACT

A contract for the construction of the proposed Norris Whitney Bridge between Rossmore and Belleville, has been awarded to Clifside Pipelayers Limited of Agincourt at a cost of $13,313,719 and provides for the work to begin in October of this year with completion set for late spring of 1983.

The contract is for the grading, drainage, granular base, hot mix paving and the bridge structure on Highway 14 from 0.6 kilometers north of the south limit of Belleville southerly to 0.4 kilometers south of the north limit of Rossmore and is for the replacement of the swing bridge between Belleville and Rossmore.

The new structure will be a two-lane high-level bridge with a sidewalk on the east side.

The sod-turning ceremony will be held on the afternoon of November 13.

FOOD FOR HEALTH

Secondary schools are going to get another chance at cash awards for promotion of good nutrition in their schools.

Twenty $1,000 prizes will be made available again this year by the provincial Ministry of Health, with the support of the Ministry of Education.

Submissions will be judged on the basis of their creativity, and their potential to continue over the years, as well as their effect on the sale and consumption of nutritious foods in the schools.

Guidelines and entry forms for the competition have been mailed to student councils of secondary schools in Ontario. Deadline for entry is February 1.

TERRY FOX FUND

On Thursday morning, September 25, a Terry Fox Walk-a-Thon was held on the Tyendinaga Indian Reserve. It was organized by Miss Iulug of Quinte Mohawk School.

The route was eight miles long, extending from Highway 49 along York Road to Shannonville.

There were 136 participants from age 3 to 36, all residents of the Reserve.

PRIZE WINNERS

JUST A JOKE!

Danny Beyette was 'spitting mad' when he came into the Scanner office Monday morning.

'I got a parking ticket for $35,' he yelled.

Seems he had parked in front of Malley's store on Deseronto's Main Street, because the driveway beside Carload was blocked and he couldn't get in to the public parking lot. So he left his car there while he made a quick trip to Napanee in another car.

When he came back, there was a 'parking ticket' on his car which said, 'Skylark Buick, licence NKE 973, overtime parking $35. Please pay at station, Lieutenant Jacobs.'

It turned out someone was playing a joke on him. There is no Lt. Jacobs at the local hoosegow and another tip-off was that the 'ticket' carried the wrong date, Tuesday, not Monday.

PICOTON CANDIDATES

When nomination time for municipal elections rolls around again next week, most of the people on Picton council will have their names on the ballots again.

Mayor Donald King and Councillors Donald Ward, Larry Comrie, Garnet Ackerman, Andrew Jarvis and Robert King intend to stand for re-election. Reeve Charles Hepburn and Councillor Albert Piroth had not decided at last reports and Deputy-reve Marilyn Robins is not sure what position she will contest.

NEW HORIZON GRANT

A New Horizon Grant of more than $8,000 will help a group of senior citizens with five historical projects of assistance to the Lennox and Addington Historical Society.

If any seniors in Napanee would like to participate, the people to contact are Helen Hutchinson, Cora Reid, Art Bell or any member of the Society's committee.

OMBUDSMAN HEARINGS

James Taylor, MPP Prince Edward/Lennox, reports that a representative of the office of the Ombudsman will hold hearings in Picton today from 11 a.m. to 6 p.m., at the county council chamber on Main Street. The hearings, in the form of interviews with Barry Kearns of the Office of the Ombudsman, are part of an ongoing program to make the Office of the Ombudsman readily available throughout the province.

The interviews are being held privately and all information will be treated as confidential. No appointment is necessary.

Baha'i Faith

The second law of the New Age is that the followers of sincerity and faithfulness must consort with people of all religions with joy, and to show forth that, which is declared by the Speaker on the Mount (Jesus) and to render justice in all affairs. Association is conducive to union and harmony and these are the cause of the order of the world and the life of nations. Be detached from animosity and hatred. Cling to Compassion and Kindness. Benevolence and forbearance are two lights for the darkness of this world and two teachers to lead nations to knowledge.

IN MEMORIAM

IN MEMORIAM

In loving memory of a dear father, Pascal Beyette, who passed away January 28, 1980.

In a graveyard not far from here,
There sleeps the one we love so dear,
To a beautiful life, a sudden end,
He died too soon, everyone's friend.
With tender love and deep regret,
We who loved him will never forget.

Lovingly remembered by wife
Nancy and son Danny.

A record Canadian apple harvest is expected this year according to figures from Agriculture Canada. Apple production is estimated to be more than 475,000 tonnes and it is expected production will continue to climb in the next few years. Growth in the demand for apples and apple products both at home and abroad is expected to keep pace with the larger production.

Canada's Expert Committee on Weeds, representing federal and provincial governments, industry and universities, is promoting increased use of cultural and biological weed control methods. The committee says farmers should try to integrate chemical control with other means of weed control wherever possible.

Agriculture Canada has added a new price report to its regular national beef market information service. The Toronto beef wholesale settlement price now will be given in all reports. This weekly price serves as the basis for most of the beef carcass trading between packers and chain stores in Ontario. It will give the cattle and beef industry, as well as consumers, an additional indication of beef price trends.

Nine new research projects, four dealing with safety and quality of food and five with livestock, will be funded from Provincial lottery funds. Livestock projects include one aimed at simplifying the procedure for freezing cattle embryos and transferring them to recipient mothers; investigation of the heritability of immunoglobulin in dairy cattle; effects of mycotoxin residues in pork; an economical diet for rabbits that will allow maximum meat production at minimum cost; and an assessment of factors influencing drug residue levels in animal tissues.

Agriculture Canada has banned the importation to Canada of all psittacine and song birds from the United States to protect the Canadian poultry industry against the possible introduction of velogenic Newcastle disease. The ban applies to exotic birds... parrots, budgies, finches, canaries, cockatiels and most other pet birds. It does not apply to commercial poultry, day-old chicks or hatching eggs.

Statistics Canada reports that final approval has been given to the 1981 census of agriculture questionnaire. The Canada Gazette has published a list of the questions which will be asked of all farm operators with annual sales of $250 or more. The Census will provide vital knowledge about the country's agricultural activities by covering such areas as land tenure, machinery and equipment, pesticide use, crop and livestock inventories, how land is used, energy needs and farm business practices. It will be conducted on Wednesday, June 3, together with the Census of Population and Housing. Taking both censuses at the same time limits the number of enumerators required.

Last year, Canadians ate about six pounds less red meat per capita than in 1978. Most of this drop was due to a 13 percent decline in beef consumption. Canadians ate more protein from alternative sources last year, including chicken, eggs and cheese. Fruit and vegetable consumption continued to rise in 1979 but there was a decline in the volume of wheat-flour products eaten.

Specialty modified tractor allows disabled Hillier farmer to help with the farm work

Ian Hafford, of Hillier Township, was determined that he would not give up farming after a swimming accident in 1965 all but completely paralyzed him.

Although he has only the use of his upper arms and elbows, he was back up on a tractor, Monday afternoon, on his Prince Edward County farm, demonstrating his newly-designed machine for his friends and neighbours.

The tractor, which began life as a Case 1830 front-end loader, has been modified so that he can operate it by placing his elbows in two aluminum brackets on either side of the driver's seat. By moving his upper arms, he can make the tractor go forward, reverse, and perform all its normal functions.

A practice run at the Royal Military College field, in Kingston, indicated he was getting pretty good at it, and his performance on Monday verified his skill.

'People don't realize just what it means to him,' his wife Katherine said.

It has taken two years to modify the tractor for Hafford's use, and also a great deal of experimentation and money.

The tractor was designed by Jiri Vasa, an electronics engineer with the bio-medical engineering unit at Queen's University and head of rehab engineering.

The actual construction of the vehicle was done by the Queen's unit in conjunction with the RMC engineering department.

Vasa is quick to point out, however, that there were a great many more individuals and organizations who helped out the project by donating time and funds.

Hafford and Vasa were originally brought together by Dr. Judith Durand of the Kingston General Hospital rehabilitation department, and the original idea was to provide Hafford with an electrical wheelchair.

Bahai's hold conference in Bethesda

On Sunday, September 28, a Baha'i Conference was held at Bethesda Hall in Sophiasburgh Township. It was attended by Baha'is from various communities in the Rideau Region.

Highlight of the gathering was the showing of the most recent Baha'i Film called 'Jub ilee'. This film showed Baha'is attending the 25th National Convention in West Samoa. During the convention weekend the King of Samoa, Malietoa Tanumafili II laid the corner stone of the first Baha'i House of Worship in the Pacific Islands. He is the first Head of State to accept the Baha'i Faith with the exception of Queen Marie of Rumania.

A talk on the Faith was presented by a Canadian, Mme. R. Rabbani, daughter of the late Wm. Sutherland Maxwell, a well-known Canadian architect. A traditional Sua ceremony was held by the Baha'is in honour of the King.

All of this was seen in the film as well as glimpses of the Samoan way of life and the beauty of the island.

He indicated at the time that he was interested in some sort of vehicle that would enable him to do some work on his farm.

The idea of an all-terrain vehicle was thought of first, but discarded because of the technical difficulties and expense in modification for Hafford's needs.

The tractor was eventually decided upon, and the work on developing it ensued.

It was a long road from the original conception of a farm vehicle that could be operated by a man so severely handicapped to the test field at RMC, and also an expensive one.

The basic tractor cost about $6,500. The cost altogether was up around $20,000.

Aside from the modifications that enable Hafford to operate the tractor, other additions have been made to it to ensure his safety and allow him to have a certain measure of independence.

The vehicle is equipped with an alarm system so that Hafford can signal for help if necessary, and has a switch mounted on the back that enables someone behind him kill the engine if control problems develop.

The vehicle also is connected by a long cable to a remote-control console that could be carried by someone walking along beside it. From this console the tractor's operation can be completely controlled and, in case of trouble, the servo-mechanisms in the cab can be overridden.

One of the biggest problems faced by Mr. Hafford is what would normally be the simple action of mounting and dismounting the tractor's seat. It is approximately four feet above ground level, and he must be lifted by hand into the seat over the vehicle's front scoop.

But more engineering ingenuity may have solved this dilemma. A hoist has been constructed by modifying part of the hydraulic system of an aircraft that lifts Hafford in and out of the seat with ease.

What does Hafford think of all this?

'When you get up here,' he says, 'all the aches and pains go away.'

Fluoridation recommended

The Board of Health of the Hastings and Prince Edward Counties Health Unit has recommended the fluoridation of municipal water supplies as the most effective public health measure presently available for reducing safely and economically the incidence of dental decay.

The resolution received unanimous approval at the September 10 board meeting.

In its resolution, the board stated that tooth decay, by its very prevalence in affecting the vast majority of both children and adults in the two counties is a major public health problem.

The resolution also stated that a great volume of scientific studies on fluoridation carried out during the past 35 years conclusively prove that the adjustment of the fluoride level of municipal water supplies is both completely safe and effective in reducing tooth decay by one-half to two-thirds and that 72% of the population on municipal water supplies in Ontario are presently receiving the benefits of fluoride.

Heading for a fall at Brandywine, Whiskey and Punchbowl

By TERRY SPRAGUE

Do waterfalls ever get drunk?

Well, apparently they do, at least according to a list of the 727 waterfalls that exist in Canada. Among these are 21 High Falls.

The list also contains a Brandywine Falls in British Columbia, a Whiskey Falls in Ontario, a Punchbowl Falls in Alberta and a Guzzle Falls in Nova Scotia.

Canada has several Great, Grand, Big, Little and Lower Falls, one Bad one and even a Bloody one.

There are Square Falls, Crooked Falls, Burnt, Broken and Ragged Falls, Winding Falls and several Reversing Falls. There are Silver, White, Brown and Vermilion Falls, Glassy Falls, Crystal Falls, Gravel, Granite and Marble Falls, Iron Falls and Wood Falls.

There are Singing Falls, Talking Falls, Laughing and Howling Falls in Canada. Quebec has both the Chute Devil and the Chute du Diable, and B.C. has the Angel's Staircase Falls as well as the Lord Waterfall.

Girls' names abound, from Alexandra to Virginia, and family names include Jones Falls (22 alone in Ontario), Smith Falls and Schwartzback Falls.

There are Jam Falls and Sugar Falls, Tea Falls and Kettle Falls.

Which leads a person to wondering how these falls came by their names.

AND OH, THOSE LAKES

Did you ever take the time to examine some of the lakes in just Ontario alone?

For instance, can you see yourself asking some innocent passerby the whereabouts of Lake Capoonnaccuccaumatic. That lake actually exists in Ontario.

Try these on for size too - Lake Kasokawaigamaaisie and Lake Immokguameguen.

There are roughly 250,000 lakes in Ontario, if you are interested in making a checklist any time. There are 108 Long, 103 Mud, 69 Clear, 51 Rock Lakes and 56 of Ontario's lakes are named North, South, East or West.

For the animal lovers we have lakes named Deer, Wolf, Bear, Moose, Muskrat, Otter, Rabbit, Caribou, Dog, Little Turtle and 56 Beaver Lakes.

For the birdwatcher there are Raven Lake, White Partridge Lake, Gull Lake, Nighthawk Lake, Pigeon Lake, Bird's Creek, Big Crow Lake, Eagle Lake, Sparrow Lake, and if you want to get into towns and villages, there is a town by the name of Hawksville.

Cherry Valley, Flower Station, Honey Harbour and Honeywood sound like terrific places to visit, and I'm sure any visitor would receive warm greetings in Welcome.

FISH AND TREES TOO

Angler lakes in the province include 53 Trout, 40 Bass, 25 Pike, with a few names like Pickerel and Perch thrown in for good measure.

Fishermen might try their luck too at Sturgeon Falls or in the village of Whitefish. Other lakes have such promising names as Best, Astonish, Astounder Superb, but there is a limit.

The trees of Ontario have been well represented with Pine Tree Harbour, Elmbrook, Elmvalve and Elmwood, Maple and Maple Island, Maple Lake and, of course, Maple Leaf.

We have Spruce Dale, Cedar Springs, and, more specifically, Red Cedar Lake, Birch Lake. Big Basswood Lake sounds rather shady.

Those stopping at the town of Poplar might also consider wandering over Poplar Hill and Poplar Dale.

FOR THE DRINKING MAN

And like the falls, we have lakes for the drinking man, including Beer, Whiskey, Gin and Scotch - and for openers, Corkscrew Lake.

Historians believe the dog was the first animal to be domesticated.

The Province boasts 32 Green Lakes, 23 Blues, 21 Blacks, 19 Whites, five Reds, and a Yellow and Orange.

It is refreshing to learn that three of Ontario's lakes are Wet, but no amount of searching can locate a Dry Lake.

Octopus, Snake, Spider, Vulture and Stingray all sound irresistible as do Deadman, Graveyard, Killer, Skeleton, Stinking and Miserable Lakes.

And who could resist setting foot in a lake that carried such names as Welcome, Yumyum and Lusty, and we must not overlook Virgin Lake.

Jinx Lake and Skunk Lake might well remain last on your list, and you would probably avoid Fink Lake or Jiu Jitsu Lake altogether.

Think twice before giving a try to Dismal Lake, Dirty Lake, Bad Lake or Bug Lake.

There are 146 of Ontario's lakes named after the province's big game animals, which isn't too unusual, but it does make one wonder how Lake Can Opener got its name.

Y Lake and L Lake share top spot in the short section, and we must not forget Wee David Lake and Wee George Lake and, while making small talk, we'll mention Little Fools, Wee Little and Two Bit Lakes.

About 65,000 of Ontario's lakes are still without a name, and there are two in the province which are called just that - No Name Lake.

'Excuse me, sir - could you please tell me how far it is to Lake Kapakitawewegimok?'

STOP THE ACID RAIN!

About 55,000 people a year die prematurely from the effects of acid rain in Canada and the United States.

Canadians appear to be ... if not too concerned...at least aware of the problem. It has received extensive coverage in our media and has occasioned heated debates in both the federal and provincial parliaments.

But, according to Canadian Press, people in the United States are not very aware of the problem of acid rain and the Canadian Environment Department is doing something to bring it to their attention.

Starting last weekend, custom officers at border crossing points in three provinces started passing on the message: 'Stop acid rain'.

That order is vividly printed in white on the front cover of a little red brochure cut in the shape of a stop sign. Inside, it reads, in part: 'The acid rain problem can be solved if Canada and the United States act together.'

In addition, experts from several federal departments are publishing information booklets for distribution at the Canadian Embassy in Washington, and consulates in other U.S. cities.

We have another suggestion for spreading the word. Next year, when Ontario gets into its big, expensive advertising campaign to attract U.S. tourists, why not include a warning that, if the two countries don't get together soon and solve the problem of acid rain, there won't be any woods, forests or streams for the U.S. tourists to enjoy.

Bird's Eye View

I seen in the papers where the dentists is making a big fuss over the state of folks teeth and how they should oughter get them fixed up regular.

I recall one old feller who had his own way of getting his teeth fixed. Don't know if you folks recall the tale I told some time back about Enoch who bought my uncle John's bull that gored him to death.

Anyways he were a dirt farmer that my dad knew, and me and dad used to sneak off to visit him behind ma's back, on account of she didn't think much of him.

Anyways, one of the reasons she figgered he weren't fit company fer us young'uns were the way his missus kept house. The chickens used to run in and out on the kitchen and my ma didn't reckon it were too sanitary. And the other big thing, apart from his language, were his way of getting his dentist work done.

When old Enoch got hisself a toothache, he didn't run around to no dentist. He'd go out to the drive shed and bring in a pair of pliers. Then he sat down in the kitchen chair and give the pliers to his woman and she'd pull the tooth fer him. My ma were right disgusted, figgered he were no better than a savage. But it sure got rid of his toothache and didn't cost him nothing, except maybe a slug of rye and his pretty smile.

Not that I'm saying everybody should oughter do that. When I were little I figgered he must of been a real tough old man, come to that I still do. I sure wouldn't have the guts to tell Elma to pull a tooth without no freezing, she wouldn't have the nerve to do it neither.

by Orville S.
Greenbush

Guess all I'm really saying is that folks have always found it hard to scrape up the cash for dental work. Many's the bottle of oil of cloves I put on my teeth when I were young, afore I joined up and got the army to fix my teeth.

I can remember the haying crews when I were little as well. There were two three old fellers used to come in to help out. Didn't have no teeth between 'em, but there were one old boy had a set of false teeth. I seen 'em pass them teeth around when there were some strong chewing to do.

Then there were the old woman who went in to a dentist not too far away with a bag full of false teeth. She pulls 'em out and told the dentist that these were uncle Charlie's and these were gran's and these were her dads, and then she had him fix her up a set of teeth out on the sparses she bring with her.

Reckon there's all sorts of tales could be told about false teeth. Some folks never get on to using 'em. My dad now, he got himself a set through the veterans. Never used 'em but a couple of times, not 'til he were buried anyways. And he used to eat apples with his gums. Must of had gums like rock.

Then there's the folks who lose 'em. I know of one couple searched every Legion Hall in the area, including the parking lots, looking fer his teeth. They was behind the car seat all the time.

Then there was the old girl lost hers and were sure they must of gone down the septic system. Didn't find 'em 'til the whole tank were dug up.

By gol, you could go on and on. But for sure, there ain't no teeth to beat the ones the good Lord give us. But they sure are mighty expensive items nowadays, ain't they?

Ted McKeown has rejuvenated thousands of toys through the years to help Santa Claus fill his orders. The teddy bear he is holding is just one of the toys he has 'brought back to life'.

Santa Claus may lose one of his best helpers

By MICHAEL HAYWARD

Well, it's that time of year again. Christmas is only 10 weeks away. So Santa Claus must be working hard to get those toys ready for the little kiddies.

But, no matter how super human the jolly old man is, he still needs lots of helpers to give him a hand.

And one of Santa's most industrious and devoted helpers has been Ted McKeown of RR 3, Odessa. He's been getting toys ready for St. Nick since 1949.

For three decades, Ted has literally taken thousands of used and broken toys, fixed them up and given them away to underprivileged children at Christmas.

The fact that he repaired 750 to 800 dolls each year when going strong indicates the magnitude of his hobby. Especially when you consider that he also fixed hundreds of tricycles, bicycles, wagons, toy cars, trucks, games etc. By the time Christmas rolled around his storage room would be wall-to-wall rejuvenated toys.

Ted is a man of few words. When asked why he did all this, he said he had seen poor kids without toys and decided to get them some. He also said he knew what it was like to go without toys because he never had any when he was young.

He used to pick up most toys himself. His car came back filled to the gills after a pickup run.

Ted said that fellow workers at Dupont (where he worked for 27 years) would tell him of people who had toys for him. A broken bicycle or wagon might also be

Deseronto Police seek arbitration

The two members of the Deseronto Police Association ... Constable first class Rick Dennis and Constable second class Les Howell ... have been working without a contract since the end of last December and the Deseronto Police Association has now filed arbitration papers with Ontario's Solicitor General. This means that an arbitrator can be named and can make a decision which is binding on both the Deseronto Police Association and the Town of Deseronto.

Police Chief Norman Clark is not a member of the Deseronto Police Association and his salary has already been settled.

Filing of the arbitration papers followed a breakdown in negotiations.

In late September, the town of Deseronto hired William Milkes, an industrial relations consultant, who met with E.R. Johnson, director of the Ontario Police Association. At that time, the two parties came to an agreement. Constable Dennis said, and made recommendations to the Town and to the Deseronto Police Association. The recommendations were acceptable to the association but not to the town.

'The problems are salary and overtime,' Dennis said. 'We may lose a bit by going to arbitration, but the Deseronto police are one of the lowest paid police forces in the province.'

'The present salary for a first class constable in Deseronto is $17,025, with a basic flat rate of an additional $2,700 for overtime. The latest recommendation was for a first class constable to be making $23,000 by the end of 1981, with $3,500 for overtime,' he said. 'The police on the Tyendinaga Reserve get $23,000 and overtime, and, by the end of 1981, the salary in Belleville will be $27,000.'

At Tuesday night's meeting of town council, Councillor C. Zieman, chairman of the police and fire committee, admitted, 'We are low on our basic salaries. There is some catch-up involved plus the cost of living. But we are also considering what Deseronto can afford to pay.'

He had prepared a written report for council which read, in part:

'The Police Committee has tried unsuccessfully to reach an agreement with the Deseronto Police Association since February 26. The main areas of contention have been and still are the basic salary and overtime.'

'The police committee, after giving due consideration to salaries paid by forces in the general geographic area and Deseronto's ability to pay, finally agreed to pay a maximum rate for 1st class constable in 1980 of $22,296 and 1981, $25,600, both amounts included overtime.'

'The police association has rejected this offer, requesting $23,848 in 1980 and $26,643 in 1981, overtime included. The Deseronto Police Association, through the Ontario Police Association has served notice that they have requested that the Solicitor General of Ontario appoint an arbitrator.'

'The Police Committee has spent a great deal of time attempting to resolve this dispute hoping to avoid the additional cost of arbitration. On the other hand, we feel that the town has been pushed to the limit and hope that an arbitrator might look more favourably on Deseronto's position.'

Mayor John Neal pointed out that it will cost the town about $2,400 to have a consultant act for the town during arbitration.

GET OUT THOSE CRAYONS KIDS !!!

A colourful way to meet the instruments

Six giant ten-foot-by-four-foot musical 'people' will form the backdrop for a series of Young Peoples' Concerts by the Toronto Symphony at Massey Hall in Toronto this season.

At each of the five concerts, children from the audience will be asked to paint one of the instrument backdrops in bright acrylic colours prior to the performance...so that, by the end of the concert series, the entire stage will be brightly adorned with the personified tuba, bassoon, clarinet, trombone, violin and double bass.

All children attending the concert series will receive a colouring book depicting the instrument characters.

And youngsters across the province who can't get to the concerts can get acquainted with the instruments too, because Aetna Casualty / Excelsior Life, which is sponsoring the Young People's Symphony Concerts will send a copy of the colouring book free of charge, to anyone requesting it. The place to write is Public Affairs, Aetna Casualty/Excelsior Life, 20 Toronto Street, Toronto, Ontario M5C 2C4.

Former fire chief Rolston a man of many hats

By MICHAEL HAYWARD

Ralph Rolston is a man of many hats. He has a white hat, two gold hats and a silver hat.

And why does Ralph have so many hats?

Because he was fire chief of the Bloomfield-Hallowell Fire Department for 33 years until his retirement in March of this year.

The white fire hat in use at the time of his retirement. The silver was given to him on his 25th year as fire chief to commemorate the occasion. He painted another gold to give it a sort of bronzing affect. That was the first hat Ralph ever had. But now he has another gold hat given to him at his Oct. 4th retirement party, in appreciation of his 33 years service.

So Ralph figures he better paint the original red, just to differentiate between the two.

Numerous awards and plaques hang on the wall along with his hats. One plaque he was particularly proud to receive came from the Mutual Fire Aid Association of Prince Edward-Hastings. He received this for being a founding member, but has also presented three of them himself during his time as fire chief.

Another plaque commemorates his 33 years of service.

He has received medals too. One commemorates 30 years of public service, while the second, the Queen's Silver Jubilee medal, was presented to him in 1977 for outstanding service to the community.

STARTED FIGHTING FIRES SINCE HE WAS A KID

Ralph says he has been fighting fires since he was a kid of 10 or 12 years old. He has also fought fires in every township in Prince Edward County except Ameliasburgh.

A grain storage fire in Concession was his first major fire.

And it seems that local canneries have had bad luck as far as fires go. Ralph mentioned helping put out fires at the old Mordon Cannery in Wellington and the old Sun Joy Cannery in Bloomfield. He has also fought fires at Baxter's Lipson's, and Hyatt's.

Ralph went on to list numerous other fires that he had tended to, such as the Wellington arena, Picton Collegiate, Smith Transport (Picton), Pro Hardware (Picton) and the list goes on and on.

Ralph is proud to say that his fire department has also been responsible for saving several irreplaceable and distinguished old houses in the area, a fact that he is proud of.

But he admits to feeling a lot better since he retired. The strain of running a firehall for 33 years was catching up to him. He also didn't enjoy the fires.

'A fire is a sad thing to watch,' he said, 'because you are seeing something being destroyed.'

HARD TO FORGET

The saddest thing he witnessed during his time as fire chief, besides the three human fatalities, was numerous farm animals getting killed in barn fires. Incidents like these have left pictures in his mind which are hard to forget.

The fires could happen any time and last anywhere from 15 minutes to two days. The occurrence of fires would go from none at all to the five there were one Sunday.

There are five siren activators in the town of Bloomfield, one of which was at Ralph's car garage, where he works. It isn't there now, of course.

There were 24 men on the force at the time of his retirement. Ralph speaks warmly of them, saying they were just like a family to him.

It takes two people to wear...or hold...all the hats Ralph Rolston has collected during his many years as a fireman. He and his wife, Mary, pose with four of the hats.

More candidates in Deseronto

Two more candidates have stated their intention to run in the upcoming municipal elections in Deseronto.

My main interest is to get the chairmanship of the recreation committee, I want something for the kids to do in the summer,' Del Wannamaker told the Scanner Tuesday, when we questioned him with his nomination papers in his hand.

Del is running for a seat on Deseronto council and it is his first time to make a bid for the position. He ran, and got, a seat on council back in 1970.

Del runs a trucking business, Deseronto Leasing.

And, at Tuesday night's meeting of Town Council, Councillor Clarence Zieman announced his intention to run for deputy reeve. Mr. Zieman has served two two-year terms on council.

The Scanner also questioned Lena Cummings who told us she will not be running for a council seat this year because she is facing a leg operation early in 1981.

'I'd like to say thanks for the co-operation I got over the past two years,' she said. 'And I would also like to thank all those people who have called me asking me to run again.'

HAPPENINGS

Mr. and Mrs. Howard French, Mr. and Mrs. Harold French, Brockville; Mr. and Mrs. Wilfred French, Trevor, Tammy, Tiffany, had Thanksgiving dinner at the home of their son and daughter-in-law Charles and Joan, Tony, Treena, Bradley, College St. Deseronto.

Keith Payne of Picton and Paul Thompson of Bloomfield are among those who have participated in a beached bird survey at Sandbanks Park, sponsored by the Long Point Bird Observatory in Lake Erie. Here they examine a ring-billed gull which has become entangled in fishing line and caught by the bill and feet by a fishing lure, as the two observers attempt to monitor bird mortality along the five-mile length of beach.

Block Parent plan gets Deseronto's support

Well, it looks as if a Block Parent organization will be coming to Deseronto.

Marian Trenholm, member of the steering committee responsible for getting the organization started, said 'We feel there is enough support in the community to go ahead with the program'.

A public meeting will be held at the Deseronto school auditorium on Oct. 31, for all people interested in learning more about the Block parent program. Marian said that a film will be shown as well as someone there to answer questions.

The Block Parent plan is a 'co-operative involvement of volunteers, police, parents and schools', designed to protect children and discourage trouble makers. It is made up of several homes on each block displaying prominent red and white Block Parent sign, signifying to children a place of protection and responsible assistance.

There are do's and don'ts in the program. The do's are that children go to these homes when lost, in case of illness or accident, and when frightened by strangers or dogs.

The don'ts are that parents are not obligated to give food and drink or render first aid. Nor are they expected to provide toilet facilities or leave their home to break up a fight, although the appropriate authorities should be contacted if necessary.

All prospective Block Parents will be screened by the Deseronto Police Department, with all persons over 16 in the home being investigated.

The Block Parents are proving to be effective. The program has operated in London, Ontario, since 1968 where 'incidents are moving out and away from its Block Parent protected neighbourhoods'. Programs have successfully occurred in several other Canadian cities.

Napanee has had an extensive Block Parent program for over two years now.

Probably the greatest misunderstanding about Block Parents is that people think they are nothing more than a babysitting service in which the parent must be at home and on call at all times. But Marian Trenholm stressed that this is not the case.

If there is any time that you are not available, such as when taking a nap or out working, all you do is take the sign from the window. Marian felt there were enough people in Deseronto with varying time schedules to cover all times of the day.

All in all, it looks like a worthwhile program that would promote the welfare and safety of children and well worth a few hours of time on October 31 to find out what it is all about.

The children themselves will learn about the program in school.

AN APOLOGY FOR THE 'BAD APPLES'

Dear Editor:

To His Honour the Mayor, Councillors and Caring Citizens of Deseronto:

May we apologize to you for the two bad apples that came out of the barrel imported from Acton, Ontario.

We speak for the 'Therrien' Family, as far back as they go - our roots will always be in Deseronto. Any contributions made by any member of the 'Therrien Family' as Mayor, councillor school board member etc., was out of love for their home town and the people in it - a town of excellent people who should not concern themselves with complaining imports.

We suggest Mr. and Mrs. Duffy that you bring this bickering to an end and allow the 'Therriens' and the 'Whittons' to rest in peace.

QUINTE NEWS ROUND UP

GETTING INVOLVED

Students at Queen Elizabeth School in Picton will be spending their spare time in a worthy cause.

October is Canadian National Institute for the Blind month and the pupils will be canvassing Picton for donations under the direction of teacher Arthur Knight.

WI CONVENTION

Tomorrow and Friday, the Lennox District Women's Institute will be hosting the 56th annual convention of Women's Institutes of the Kingston area. Mrs. George Colings, provincial board director, and Mrs. Douglas Clarke, president Lennox district will welcome the more than 100 members.

On Thursday evening, there will be a banquet at the Napanee District Secondary School.

TOY LIBRARY

The toy Library at the Bloomfield-Hallowell Union Library has been a big success during the spring and summer and will be kept going over the winter, but the hours will be changed.

Playtime, at which time children select toys for borrowing, will be held Tuesday afternoons, from 1:30 to 3:00, instead of on Wednesday mornings.

What do teachers do on professional activity days?

We've had a press release from the Prince Edward County Board of Education with a list of activities planned for the elementary teachers' PA day, October 17.

Included are: Bell Canada-Ontario Association for children with Learning Disabilities Seminar, to be held in Peterborough; a mathematics workshop in the morning and a young authors workshop in the afternoon at Pinecrest school; a science workshop at Queen Elizabeth school, and an intermediate English workshop at the Educare.

NAPANEE GRANT

James Taylor, MPP Prince Edward/Lennox, reports that a request for a grant of $10,000 from Wintario made by the Napanee Recreation Department for the purchase of an up-to-date energy saving ice resurfacer has been approved.

Mr. Taylor added, 'A cheque for $10,000 will soon be on its way so that the new machine will be in service this season. It will, in one operation, pick up chipped ice for dumping outside the arena and refinish the ice with a spray of water. A propane type machine, it will be both time and energy saving.'

NO DRY LAKE?!!

Last week, the article in the Scanner by Terry Sprague, listing odd names for falls, and lakes in Ontario said that 'It is refreshing to learn that three of Ontario's lakes are Wet, but no amount of searching can locate a Dry Lake.'

Well, one of our readers disagrees, and reports as follows:

'Yes, Virginia, there is a Dry Lake. The lake at Marlbank, created from the removal of the marle clay is called Dry Lake.'

The 'Yes, Virginia', in case some of our readers aren't familiar with the quote, is the classic editorial written years ago by an American editor to convince his small daughter of the existence of old St. Nick, which started out... 'Yes, Virginia, there is a Santa Claus'.

UP IN AN IVORY TOWER?!

According to a report in the Belleville Intelligencer, Dr. Bradley Holmes, president of the Ontario Dental Association, says that only about 60% of Canadians have regular dental checkups and the reason the other 40% don't is apathy and self-diagnosis, not financial.

Dr. Holmes is also reported as saying that 15% of the people questioned in a cross-section survey of the province; conducted by the Dental Association, noted lack of funds as the reason for not seeing a dentist, but he commented, 'It is like anything else, it's a matter of priorities.'

Try telling that to a mother with a child crying with toothache in a depressed area like some of those around here... how does she make a choice between the priority of eating and the priority of having teeth to eat with?

It's time the Dental Association down out of its ivory tower!

UNDERWATER FILM FESTIVAL

'Armchair explorers' have a treat in store... 'Quinte 2' Underwater Film Festival will take place at Centennial Secondary school, Palmer Road, Belleville, this Saturday evening at 7:30.

There will be films, visual/slide sound extravaganza, display of historical artifacts recovered from area shipwrecks.

Emcee is the noted Canadian underwater explorer, author and photographer, Kenn M. Feigelman, Belleville.

Baha'i Faith

The third law of the New Age concerns character. Good character is the best mantle for men on the part of God. Upon this the honor and glory of the world are based and dependent. It is the means of guiding others. The Pen of Abha has written — 'O Son of Spirit! The best of all to Me is justice. With it thou wilt see with thine own eyes, know of thine own knowledge and not by the knowledge of others. Meditate on this — How thou oughtest to be. Justice is one of My Gifts to thee therefore put it before thine eyes continually.'

A new committee has been formed to study the problem of bird and animal damage to agricultural crops. Crop losses to vertebrate pests, such as the red-winged blackbird, can be extensive every year. And controlling them can be more difficult than dealing with insects and weeds. The committee, made up of representatives from both agriculture and wildlife services will look for effective ways to reduce the damage.

Agriculture Canada economists are forecasting strong prices for this year's Canadian potato crop. Prices are up from last year because of a drop in production of more than 8.5 million hundredweights. The production decline follows five years of increased production and depressed prices. The quality of the potato crop is generally good except in a few areas where excessive moisture has hampered harvesting.

Micronutrients in the soil, such as boron and molybdenum.

Gardening —

Another gardening chore at this time of year is bringing your houseplants inside for the winter. They should be checked carefully to make sure that they are not housing insects and plant disease, because once inside these problems can spread to other houseplants.

Whiteflies and mealybugs are common pests to check for. And it's a good idea to isolate the incoming plants for a week or so to make sure that they are pest free before mixing them with your other plants.

can play an important part in crop development. Molybdenum deficiency can stunt plant growth, but farmers can usually prevent this by adding lime to the soil. Boron deficiency in the soil causes problems such as yellowing of alfalfa tops and brown heart in rutabagas.

A vaccine to protect livestock from biting insects may be practical in the future as the result of research by scientists at Agriculture Canada's Lethbridge Research Station. They are now studying how cattle and sheep build up a partial resistance to parasites such as keds and lice. They think the answer may be only skin deep. They are looking at the skin cells of animals for antibodies and other chemicals that could be used to develop a vaccine.

Agriculture Minister Eugene Whelan has announced a drop in the interest rates charged by the Farm Credit Corporation. The interest rates for loans under the Farm Credit Act and the Farm Syndicates Credit Act will be set at 12 and 3/4 per cent for the next six months.

Deseronto Council Briefs

There were some empty seats at Tuesday night's meeting of Deseronto Town Council... only Mayor John Neal, Reeve B. Johnston, and councillors Clarence Ziemann, Lena Cummings, Bill Higgins and A. Blayney were on hand for the opening of the meet, and Bob Graydon made it, but a little late.

And, there was a lot of talk about hurrying things up so everyone could get home to watch the opening of the world series.

But council did manage to get through a lot of business in an hour's time.

NAYLOR THEATRE

After much discussion, council decided to act on the order to demolish the old Naylor Theatre on Main Street. The original motion, passed by council, was an authorization for Marvin Brooks, property standards by-law officer, to award a demolition contract on September 8. Action on the motion was delayed because council was advised that the owner, S. Marek, was going to proceed with repairs to the roof, and that Quinte Roofing was to do the job.

As of 2 o'clock Tuesday afternoon, no contract had been signed by Mr. Marek for Quinte Roofing to do the job, and at the council meeting on Tuesday, Councillor Zieman moved that they proceed with the original motion to demolish.

Mayor John Neal said notification had been given.

The contract for demolition was given to Limestone Demolition and workers were on the job Wednesday morning.

COUNCIL BRIEFS

A by-law was passed appointing Linda Johnston deputy clerk-treasurer and collector of taxes, at a salary of $10,500 a year, plus employee benefits.

A letter from Sharon Bartolo,

110 Centre Street, expressing concern over the safety of children at the intersection of Centre and Thomas Streets, was turned over to the Police Committee for further review in a month's time.

CN Rail has requested council to pass a resolution confirming that there are no municipal objections to the proposed abandonment of the CN Deseronto spur line, and council did pass the resolution after considerable discussion. Mayor John Neal pointed out that the property now owned by CN will go to those who own the adjoining property.

A letter was received from Napanee-Deseronto Cablevision Limited informing clerk Carman Milligan that the petition from residents in Deseronto had been received and that each of the petition subscribers would be checked and personal contact made to assure that they are satisfied with the service.

Reeve Johnston reported that the work on sidewalks has been completed and work of paving the upper portion of St. George Street will begin almost right away.

Judith Huber was the winner of the Deseronto Memorial Scholarship which Mayor Neal will present at the Commencement exercises of the Napanee District Secondary School on Nov. 1.

Deseronto has spent $30,200 of the $40,000 available for Ontario Home Renewal loans. Another loan was approved at Tuesday's meeting and Marvin Brooks has three more in progress.

The CSC plan has been sent to the Ontario Government for approval.

A by-law to establish a plan of sick leave credit gratuities for all permanent employees of the town was put over until the next meeting of council. Clerk Milligan reported that town employees had seen the proposed by-law and been asked for comments.

Councillor Higgins reported that the recreation bus has been painted, safety checked, and repairs have been done.

Ameliaburgh revives old traditions

By TERRY SPRAGUE

Three times a year, the street in Ameliaburgh village becomes jam-packed with cars. People start arriving about noon and by mid-afternoon every available parking space along the street, parking lot and side roads has been snatched.

The attraction is the Ameliaburgh Museum and every Canada Day, Labour Day and Thanksgiving Sunday, the museum and the adjacent grounds blossom into a miniature Black Creek Pioneer Village.

The Museum calls it Activity Day, and the event has been aptly named. Forgotten machinery and forgotten ways are demonstrated as the area bustles with old traditions, accented by the pungent fragrance of steam and wood smoke.

It is a time when museum staff, township council members and local volunteers rally together to revive the past.

Ameliaburgh Museum curator Vivien Swain of RR 4, Picton (Lake on the Mountain), says these three special days in the year would not be possible without the generous help of volunteers.

'We try to keep the events during Activity Day as seasonal as possible,' says Ms. Swain.

APPLES FEATURED

Apples were featured last Sunday with cinnamon apple slices being prepared at one table by a volunteer dressed in period costume, while just a short distance away, apples were being fed into a root pulper, transferred to a press, and the juice made into mulled apple cider. This mulled apple cider is an interesting combination of boiled apple cider, cinnamon sticks, cloves, lemon and honey, and was being served throughout the afternoon on the museum grounds.

A commercial apple peeler and a corn sheller were being operated by members of the Quinte Flywheels Vintage Gas Engine Association, Owen and Bob Bosma of RR 1, Ameliaburgh. The two pieces of machinery were mounted on a wagon and both were powered by one of several vintage gas engines on display Sunday.

Owen Bosma said the apple peeler was a 1918 commercial peeler which once operated in a Trenton factory, and the sheller was a two-hole sheller, capable of taking in two ears of corn at one time.

'You don't see too many of them around,' commented Mr. Bosma.

Elsewhere on the museum grounds, candles and soap, shingles and rope were being made, a smoke house was in operation and horse and wagon rides were being offered to museum visitors.

MANY ARTIFACTS

Vivien Swain says many of the museum's artifacts and displays are on loan and this is one reason why the museum changes from year to year. Every year more buildings are erected to house the artifacts and present a chronicle of day to day life as it would have been in rural Prince Edward County a century ago.

In addition to the museum itself, built in 1868 as a Methodist Church and opened to the public as a museum in 1968, the grounds contain a log cabin, smoke house, carpenter's shop and bake shop, weaver's cottage, sap shanty, blacksmith shop and several farm machinery and implement barns.

Also there is a covered milk stand and milk cart, now a thing of the past since milk must now be shipped in bulk; two corn cribs, a pea viner, and a small building housing a variety of fanning mills and weigh scales.

But work at the museum never stops. Already the foundation has been laid for yet another building, this one to house a vintage steam engine, owned by Hancock Lumber in Toronto.

Ameliaburgh reeve Paul Boyd says much of the work on the foundation has been donated. Museum blacksmith, Bruce Grant expects the project will take at least two years considering the size of the machine, and it is expected the engine will be reassembled first with the building constructed around it.

Mr. Grant says the entire engine, when complete, will weigh in excess of 35 tons. The flywheel itself, already arrived at the site, measures 35 inches in width and is 18 feet in diameter.

The Ameliaburgh Museum reopens next May and will be open on weekends until next October, and daily, except Monday, through July and August, from 10:30 in the morning to 5:00 in the afternoon.

CNIB LIGHTS THE WAY

The annual campaign for funds for the Canadian National Institute for the Blind is being conducted locally again this year by the Deseronto Lions Club and it is hoped that it will meet with the same success as in other years in the Deseronto area.

Money can't buy sight but your dollars do help blind people to help themselves, so when a lion calls for a donation, we hope you will keep the following facts in mind:

The CNIB is the only national charitable organization providing vital rehabilitative and support services which help blind people take their important place in the community.

CNIB also conducts many prevention of blindness programs.

CNIB relies on the generosity of private citizens for the funds needed to continue these essential services.

In Canada, there are 33,500 blind people. In Ontario there are 11,700 visually impaired people. More than half of those working for the CNIB are blind themselves.

Some CNIB services are: rehabilitation training in daily activity skills, braille and talking book lending library, mobility and travelling training, employment counselling and placement, recreational programming, services for children and students, Low Vision Clinic, Genetic Eye Clinic and prevention of blindness activities.

The CNIB provides specialized services to people with the loss of both sight and hearing.

There is no charge to blind people for CNIB's services.

In some areas, CNIB is a member of the United Way. In this area, CNIB conducts an independent campaign for funds.

Bird's Eye View

Funny how things can make you jump ain't it?

Had a visit, Sunday, from the son of an old friend of mine. Him and his missus and kids moved back to the country last year, and one of the lads decided to raise himself some chickens.

So last spring he ordered in his birds and looked after 'em real good all summer, till they grew into proper monsters.

Anyways, seems last Sunday morning they had a visit from a fox. Now at this time of year the foxes get bold, you know, and there he were, round about seven in the morning, chasing these here hens all over the barnyard, and them making a real do about it.

Up jumps the lads father, in his dressing gown and gallops off to chase away the fox. Running like a jack rabbit, barefoot over the gravel driveway, leapt the hydro fence like a deer without realizing what he were doing, and sure enough scared away the fox.

Mind you, he come back a bit more careful, specially going over that hydro fence which were at sort of a tricky height for a man with no more perfection than a dressing gown.

Anyways, what I started out to tell you was how jumpin' this here bit of excitement made them folks. There we were, having a nice quiet cup of coffee in the kitchen, when his missus lets out a squawk fit to wake the dead. 'Quick,' she yells, 'somethings after your chickens.'

Course we all run to see what it were causing such a scare, seemed too late in the day for a fox. Sure enough, it were that danged cat of Elma's the one I told you about a while ago as peed on the pillow. Anyways, there were the cat coming across the barnyard with a chipmunk in her mouth for the kittens up in the mow.

Guess when you're jumpy, you can see just about what you expect to see, can't you. But that young woman sure felt foolish!

Letter

Dear Editor:

We have relatives in Deseronto and usually get into town for a brief visit every year or so.

We have seen a small town, somewhat isolated from the mainstream of industry and commerce, literally pull itself up by its own bootstraps. We remember 5 or 6 years back when the citizens of Deseronto voted to quadruple their real estate taxes to provide funding for the new water and sewer systems.

In recent years a number of people have moved into Deseronto. Possible some of them have exercised their personal liberty and left. However, the latter seem to be in the minority.

Mrs. Duffy's lineage is truly impressive, although not necessarily unique. There are a number of families in the area who are descended from a long line of honorable antecedents. Most of these descendants stand on their own records, rather than the records of their ancestors.

Yours truly,

Mr. & Mrs. Jack Kinger
Thompson, Ohio

No information from police on Deseronto beating

Everyone in Deseronto knows that an elderly man was beaten up in Deseronto and that some arrests have been made.

Also, anyone listening to CKWS on Tuesday night, or watching the local TV station heard that charges of attempted murder had been laid, in connection with the incident.

The Scanner has been trying for several days to get information 'from the horse's mouth' ... our local police and the OPP in Napanee, with no success.

Finally, early Wednesday morning we were informed by Constable Rick Dennis of the Deseronto Police, via Susan Way, that no information was to be released and that they didn't know where the radio station got the information.

We goofed!

There was an error in last week's story about the Block Parent Plan which is being organised in Deseronto.

We said, incorrectly, that the meeting was to be held on the 31st of October. In fact the meeting will be held on the 30th, as one of the organizers said, 'We didn't want everybody to be scared off by all those witches and goblins!'

Fall back again

It's that time of year again. Don't forget to turn your clocks back on Saturday night. Standard time is here again!

How much longer will the old Naylor Theatre in Deseronto be standing...a short time...or for many years? No one knows yet. The town of Deseronto had Limestone Demolition on the job last Wednesday to start demolishing the old theatre but the work was stalled again on Thursday when owner, S. Marek, got a court order for demolition to stop. The court order was in effect until today. At the time of going to press, the Scanner staff were still in the dark as to whether Mr. Marek would get an extension of the injunction or not.

Adolphustown Township Council holds its regular meeting

At its October meeting, Adolphustown Township council ratified and signed the fire agreement with North Fredericksburg. It has been forwarded to that township for signature.

One land application was approved, that of Joseph and Gary Shelley, but the land division application of Aino Ruuth was not. Building permits were approved for I. Smart, H. Horton, E. Voogaj, D. Durant and Ray Kilcher.

Under a recommendation of the Ministry of Revenue, the supplemental assessment of 4130, issued to T. Webb, was cancelled.

The petition for subsidy based on a total expenditure of $35,923.65 was forwarded to the Ministry of Transportation and Communications.

Pending response of the County of Lennox and Addington to maintain roads in North Adolphustown, the road superintendent was authorized to negotiate to obtain a contractor to do this work.

A HEALTHY DEMOCRATIC SIGN

Fewer acclamations this time

Monday afternoon, at five o'clock, was the deadline for nominations in the upcoming municipal elections which take place on November 10, and this year, in the Quinte area, there seems to be a lot more interest than in previous elections.

Many of the positions are going to be contested, as more new people are taking an interest in getting involved.

Some people have filed nomination papers for more than one position and they had until 5 o'clock Tuesday afternoon to decide which nominations they would withdraw.

DESERONTO

Deseronto is in a peculiar position as far as nominations for councillor and Public Utilities are concerned.

There were six nominations for council and six positions were open, so the six nominees have gone in by acclamation. They are Bob Graydon, Dennis Tompkins, Bill Higgins, Dr. D. Meredith, Fletcher Vick and Ray Bint.

But Ray Bint is also one of the two nominated as a member of the P.U.C. He and Frieda Vick were the only ones nominated for the two spots on the P.U.C, so they both went in by acclamation.

Mr. Bint had to make up his mind by 5 o'clock Tuesday afternoon and withdraw one of the nominations. Whichever he decided to withdraw, would leave too few candidates for that position, and nominations would be opened again on Wednesday (today) until 5 p.m. for new candidates to file nomination papers.

The positions of those councillors and P.U.C members already in by acclamation, are secure. New Nominees would be contesting either for the one seat on council or the one seat on the P.U.C.

Mr. Bint decided to withdraw his nomination for the P.U.C and so did Mrs. Vick, which left the town with no candidates for P.U.C.

Austin Duffy has filed nomination papers to have a run at the position of mayor, contesting the position with the present mayor, John Neal.

There are two contenders for the deputy reeve spot too ... Clarence Z. Ieman and Terry Whalen. Reeve B. Johnston has gone back in by acclamation.

NAPANEE

There will be a mayoralty contest in Napanee too, with Lorne Smart and Ernie Marshall in the race. Ernie Marshall has also been nominated for Reeve, as has Grant Clark. Mr. Marshall will have to withdraw one of the nominations.

Competing for the deputy reeve spot are Herb Hayes and Reg Vick.

There are seven nominees for the six spots on council... Clarence Milligan, Sue Sinclair, Glenn Herrington (the present mayor), Cummings Daverne, Ken Mifflin, Gerry Thivierie and Jim Markotich.

The two candidates for the P.U.C have gone in by acclamation...Don Leary and Tony Markotich.

George Normile, Tug Wilson and Ralph Whetstone are contesting the two positions on the school board.

PICTON

Mayor Don King has been returned as Mayor of Picton by acclamation and Reeve Charles Hepburn is also back in by acclamation.

Ross Cronkwright and Marilyn Robbins are in the race for the position of deputy reeve.

Seven people are after the six seats on council. They are Carol Tolley, Robert King, Donald Ward, Andrew Jarvis, Anthony Gentile, Garnet Ackerman and Gail Robinson.

Two candidates, Ruth Hart and Lloyd Seeley, want the one seat on the school board, and three people, Burt Doustet, Gordon Nourse and Hank Busscher, are contesting the two seats on the P.U.C.

SOPHIASBURGH TOWNSHIP

It looked as if there would be a race for the position of reeve in Sophiasburgh, but on Tuesday, William Small of the Northport Road, decided to withdraw his nomination.

Max MacDonald also withdrew his nomination for that position and the spot as deputy reeve. He let his nomination for council stand.

There are three positions on council and there were four people interested but Arnold DeVries was disqualified because his nomination papers were not filed on time. In council, by acclamation, are Max MacDonald, Paul Aman and Lee Mitchell.

HALLOWELL TOWNSHIP

There's a contest for the position of Reeve in Hallowell too...Keith MacDonald and Herbert G. Tolston are in the race.

Barney Hepburn and George Reynolds were nominated for the position of deputy reeve, but Mr. Hepburn was also nominated as one of the three members of the school board, who went in by acclamation.

NOTICE TO ALL ELECTORS IN THE TOWN OF DESERONTO

In accordance with Section 30 of the Municipal Act, please be advised that the following proposed By-Law to reduce the number of members on Deseronto Town Council will be submitted for the assent of the Electors at the November 10, 1980 Town of Deseronto Municipal Election.

'A By-Law to provide that the Council of the Town of Deseronto shall be composed of a Mayor, Reeve, Deputy Reeve, and FOUR Councillors, all to be elected by general vote.'

WHEREAS, Section 30(3) of the Municipal Act, R.S.O. 1970 and amendments thereto, states that where a Town has a population of not more than 5,000, the council shall be composed of a mayor, a reeve, a deputy reeve, where so entitled, and, (a) six councillors to be elected by general vote OR, where the council so provides, four councillors to be elected by general vote.

AND WHEREAS the Council of the Corporation of the Town of Deseronto deems it advantageous to reduce the present number of six councillors to four;

NOW THEREFORE the Council of the Corporation of the Town of Deseronto ENACTS as follows:

1. THAT the Council of the Corporation of the Town of Deseronto shall be composed of a mayor, a reeve, a deputy reeve and four councillors, all to be elected by general vote.
2. THAT this by-law shall take effect at, and for the purposes of, the municipal election next after its passing.

If this by-law receives the assent of the electors, such by-law SHALL be passed by the Council following the expiration of two weeks after the result of the voting has been declared. BUT such by-law shall not take effect until the municipal election next after its passing.

I, Carman J. Milligan, Clerk-Treasurer, Town of Deseronto, do hereby certify that the above by-law is a true copy of the proposed by-law to be submitted for assent of the Electors at the 1980 Municipal Election in the Town of Deseronto.

A 'Clearly Precipitous Railway'

By TERRY SPRAGUE

Despite a general decline in interest in the railway as a mode of travel these days, a new railway has just been completed in Prince Edward County. The excursions are brief, but the view from your seat is breathtaking.

The engineer on this excursion is Bill Gribble of RR 2, Picton, near Green Point, and upon your arrival, he will probably don his CPR hat and set you off on your way.

The CPR on his hat in this case stands for 'Clearly Precipitous Railway' and precipitous it certainly is.

Bill and Sheila Gribble built their house several years ago on a high precipice overlooking the beautiful Hayward Long Reach in Southiasburgh Township. The only problem was they could never reach the water without it becoming a struggle.

So Bill decided to construct a slow-moving railway which would be capable of taking them down the 208-foot drop to the water's edge.

He built the entire device himself over a period of two years at an estimated cost of $650, "and $5,000 worth of labour", Mr. Gribble laughs as he recalls the many changes he had to make to perfect his invention.

GOT LOTS OF EXERCISE

Perhaps the most difficult, and certainly the most hazardous part of the project, was constructing the more than 200 feet of wooden track on the 45-degree slope.

'It provided good exercise,' said Bill.

The shale-like surface was loose and often visiting dogs would attempt to reach Bill while he was laying the track, their efforts dislodging loose rocks and catapulting them at a dangerous speed down the slope.

The device which operates the railway car is situated at the top of the hill and is firmly anchored in concrete.

A one h.p.s. electric motor operates the railway car and is geared down to give the passenger maximum enjoyment as he descends the slope. The trip is five minutes either direction.

The control box at the top of the hill contains the master switch and the car can be controlled by a second person from here, or controlled from the car itself.

It operates on a relay system and is unique in that three separate functions can be obtained with only two wires.

SAFETY FEATURES

The entire system is packed with safety features, more than enough to stand up to rigorous safety standards testing, if indeed any exist for such a device.

The car operates on a counterweight system, a flat concrete car loaded with bricks which meets you on the same track halfway down the slope and which passes under the car on its journey to the top.

The car is controlled by aircraft cable with a tensile strength of 3,000 pounds. Should this cable break, a safety rope snaps into action, preventing any accidents.

The device also is fitted with an emergency brake, and if you have any problems once you reach bottom, an intercom keeps you in touch with the world at the top of the hill.

The entire system is almost entirely automatic, requiring the operator to only shove the lever to 'Go'. Once the car reaches bottom, it automatically stops, at the same time engaging the mechanism in reverse for the return trip up the hill, where the same procedure takes place once you reach the summit.

THROUGH THE WOODS

The construction of the track necessitated removing only three trees and has left the dense deciduous woods through which the railway descends almost intact.

The descent takes the passenger through growths of maple, basswood, ash, shagbark, hickory and ironwood.

As with most train tours, the autumn is the best time to go, and the five-minute ride at Gribbles is accentuated by the brilliance of fall colour as the sun sifts through the canopy of branches, occasional leaves fluttering down and landing on the seat beside you.

Upon reaching shore, the area opens up into a private dock area, canoe at the ready for a paddle up the Long Reach if so inclined.

Bill says he gained his inspiration for the project from his next door neighbour, Roy Stubbs, who built a similar device a few years ago.

Although the two railways look the same from a distance, the principles are entirely different. The Stubb's railway car operates on a farm machine chain, not a cable, and the motor which runs the car is mounted on the car itself, unlike the Gribbles' railway car which is powered from the top of the hill.

Bill believes these two railway cars may be the only such devices in Prince Edward County. But that may not be for long.

Already, a third is in the making at Green Point, being built by Hugh Dods, which will operate on still another principle, this one with the propulsion at the top of the hill like the Gribbles, but operating with no counterweight, the option of speed control and the cable being wound up on a windlass.

Bill and Sheila Gribble start their descent down what is believed to be the second operating two-person carrying device of its kind in Prince Edward County.

BAD APPLES?...MAVERICKS?!

Dear Editor:

My husband deplores the continuing exchange of critiques in your paper. Nonetheless, I must answer Jack and Edythe Therrien and Helen MacDonald. Many large families have their share of mavericks -- apparently cousins Jack and Helen fall into this category.

Their reference to the 'bad apples' imported from Acton appears to be a steal from Jean McConnel's previous reference to the barrel of apples -- surely they could do better than this. However, by their criticism and disclaimer, they not only negate their professed love of Deseronto, but do their own family a great disservice. Nor have they, to my knowledge, made any contribution to the Town and, as non-voters, should confine their criticisms to the areas where they now choose to reside. So much for their roots -- long since severed and not renewed.

I would challenge Jack and Helen to take up the cause of good Civic Government themselves in the municipalities where they presently reside, rather than make apologies to Deseronto for myself and my husband -- especially since they know nothing of the facts on which to base a criticism.

All discerning voters will of course discard their comments and hopefully vote their own choice -- whether Mayor Neal, my husband, or any other candidates for Deseronto Council on November 10.

Very truly yours,

Marjorie Duffy

HEARTY ENDORSEMENT

Dear Editor:

As the senior member still alive, of two families, a Therrien by birth and a Whitton by marriage and as a lifelong resident of the Town of Deseronto and therefore an eligible member of the electorate, I, with no reservation, heartily endorse the candidacy of Austin Berton Duffy for Mayor in the municipal election of November 1, 1980.

To all the electorate I say unequivocally -- meet this challenge NOW with your vote for Mr. Duffy. To-morrow may be too late.

Very truly yours,

Genevieve Therrien Whittton

SON IS ON HELEN S.

Dear Editor:

I am writing to you as a recent reader of 'The Scanner'. My son, Gordon, is on your mailing list.

In your August 13th issue there is a picture of the 'Helen S'.

As my son is first mate on her I have an interest in her and would like very much to obtain an enlarged copy of the picture.

My question is can you suggest how this can be done? Any help will be appreciated, I assure you.

Having now read several issues of your paper I would like to say that I thoroughly enjoy the content. I am not yet an 'Escapee' from Toronto but it sure sounds great.

Editor's note: Mr. Cairns will get the help he asked for.

WAYS TO SAVE ENERGY UNDER YOUR ROOF

DRAFT DEFENSE

A 1/4 inch crack along the bottom of a door can leak as much warmth as a hole in your wall the size of a baseball!

Caulking and weatherstripping to plug heat leaks are the best defenses going—because these measures save your valuable energy (and money) from heating the great Canadian outdoors. You can find out more in "Draft Defense," one of a series of brochures we've published to help you save energy.

While you're checking out those gaps in your draft defense, you might want to take a close look at how your home's insulation works up for winter.

THE 'R' FACTOR IN KEEPING THE HEAT IN

There's no two ways about it—when it comes to saving energy and

there's nothing like properly installed insulation.

Check out the "R" factor of your home's present insulation, and proceed from there. You may even qualify for a CHIP grant that will help you carry the cost of insulating.

As you size up your home's insulation, don't forget to look at your furnace with an eye to making it more frugal with energy.

THE FRUGAL FURNACE

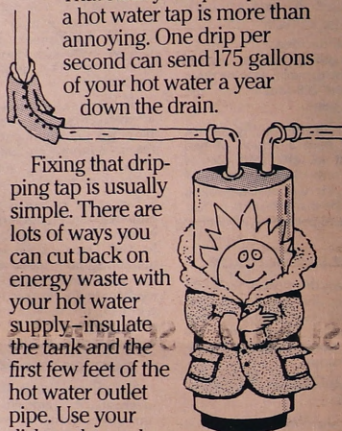

Regular maintenance and some very simple steps are all you need to make your furnace more energy efficient. Have your furnace checked and serviced once a year. Set the thermostat back a few degrees. Check your air filter once a month and replace as needed. Make sure heat registers aren't blocked by drapes or furniture—use deflectors when registers are under drapes. If you use electric heat, vacuum your baseboard heaters regularly.

There are a lot more helpful furnace tips you can find out about. But now, there are just a few words to be said about keeping yourself in hot water.

KEEPING THE HOT IN YOUR HOT WATER

That steady "drip-drip" from a hot water tap is more than annoying. One drip per second can send 175 gallons of your hot water a year down the drain.

Fixing that dripping tap is usually simple. There are lots of ways you can cut back on energy waste with your hot water supply—insulate the tank and the first few feet of the hot water outlet pipe. Use your dishwasher only when full. And there are many more ways to save!

Find out about ways to save energy under your roof by sending the coupon below. You'll receive handy, informative brochures that will give you the lowdown on higher energy savings. Follow their advice and you'll be doing your part to make sure that Ontario's energy future keeps on looking good.

And remember—winter's coming!

Life is good, Ontario.
Preserve it. Conserve it.

100TH BIRTHDAY

Mrs. Margaret Wilkinson, 25 Queen St., Picton, was 100 years old on Oct. 16, but her birthday party, planned as an open house, had to be cancelled because she is recuperating from a recent illness.

However, she did celebrate, in advance, with a family gathering on October 12.

Mrs. Wilkinson has lived in Picton since she emigrated from Northern Ireland in July, 1928, with her husband the late Tom Wilkinson.

DENTAL SURVEY

During the summer, a comprehensive study of parent attitudes to dental health and the school dental health program was undertaken by the Hastings and Prince Edward Counties Health Unit with the assistance of the federal government's Summer Youth Employment Program. Over a 10-week period, three university students completed 1,000 successful door-to-door interviews on a sample basis, covering the entire two-county area.

Preliminary findings included: a strong measure of parental support for the program and a clear indication that parents wish to be better informed of school dental program activities.

One of the dental programs is the noon-brushing program. In Hastings County there are 20 schools with a total of 86 classes brushing; in Prince Edward County, 10 schools with 51 classes; and the Roman Catholic Separate School Board has eight schools with 16 classes.

ARTIST HONOURED

Hedy Campbell, a Picton artist, has had two of her water colour paintings accepted by the East-Central Art Association for hanging in the Belleville Corby Public Library gallery. And one of them received an honourable mention... 'Black Cherries'.

She was the only Prince Edward county artist to receive an award or honourable mention. Five other artist from the county, chosen to show their works, were Patricia Buscher of Picton; Donna Cameron, Carrying Place; Don Alexander, Wellington; Penny Dickinson, Demorestville, and Ethel Evans, Picton.

Picton decides

Picton town council has finally come to a decision about spending funds available under the Community Services Contribution Program (CSCP).

The town had a total of $1.4 million to use for improvements ... 50% to come from the federal government, 25% from the provincial government and 25% from the town. About half of the total was allotted to 'soft services' and some of that amount was committed to improvements such as rehabilitation of the former town dumpsite.

But what to do with the rest was a matter for a great deal of public controversy.

One plan for a waterfront park down near the Yacht Club was scrapped because of the uproar of opposition. So was the proposal to redevelop the intersection of Main, Downes, Chapel and Ferguson Streets which would have involved moving the town cenotaph to the east.

Well, where to spend the money was finally settled at last week's meeting of town council. It still has to be approved by the Provincial government.

Among the projects proposed are: development of Store Street Park, improvements to the boardwalk between Bridge Street and Store Street, improvements to Picton Library, renovations to Benson Hall, repair and cleaning of the town clock in Picton United Church.

The fourth law is trustworthiness. Verily we mention unto thee trust and the place it occupies before God, thy Lord and the Lord of the Great Throne. It is the door of tranquility to all in the world. The stability of every affair depends on it. O people of Baha, Trustworthiness is the best garment for thy temples. A day of exploration and discovery

Monday, September 29, was a day of exploration and discovery for the United Church Women - and some United Church men - of Belleville Presbyterial. In bright, cool weather, 170 people in four buses left Picton and Belleville to travel through the Northern Pastoral Region - an area lying north of No. 7 highway and extending from the Ottawa River westward to the shores of Lake Simcoe.

The land is very beautiful with many lakes and streams. Hardwoods and pines cover the rocky hillsides.

The population is sparse and scattered - increased in the summer by vacationers.

The church members struggle to keep their churches open in spite of their numbers. To assist them the Bay of Quinte Conference of the United Church has appointed two area ministers, Rev. Henry Getz and Rev. Harold Davies. These two men travel constantly, preaching, administering the sacraments, and supporting the local ministers.

In the last two years several Leadership Training Workshops have been held to train lay people to serve their churches more efficiently.

Mr. Getz, Mr. Davies and Rev. V. Levan of the Conference office accompanied the tour to give background information and discuss the problems and opportunities in the Northern Pastoral Region.

During the day eight churches of various styles and sizes were visited. One church was over a century old; one had opened its doors less than two years ago.

Four ministers were on hand to welcome the visitors and answer questions. The United Church Women of Dneigh served tea, coffee, and cookies, both morning and afternoon. A hot noon meal was prepared and served in the hall of the new modern church at Schutt. Everywhere the visitors were welcomed with warm friendship.

An inspiring moment occurred at Flinton when, after a question about the organ, the minister's wife began to play the great Welsh hymn, 'Guide me O Thou Great Jehovah'. At once the visitors took up the tune and the church rang with this affirmation of faith.

Other pleasant happenings were a visit to the Maple Syrup Centre at Schutt and time to browse and shop in the Indian Craft Centre at Curve Lake.

Much credit for the success of this trip is due to the careful planning of Rev. Henry Getz, who plotted the route, arranged for the meals and breaks, and provided each traveller with a map and itinerary sheet.

The trip to NPR arose out of general interest in finding out more about this area which was adopted as a Live/Love project in March, 1980. Choosing a project from the Live/Love book is recommended to every local.

'You may find that it leads into learning by paths as pleasant as the Prebyterial tour to the Northern Pastoral Region,' said Mrs. Helen Drew of Centreville.

Old timers plan anniversary

The Deseronto Quinte Old-Timers Club met on Wednesday, Oct. 15, at the Lion's Hall. Ruby Tucker presided at the meeting.

Minutes were read and approved. Correspondence was read. Roll call was taken by Grace Martin.

Muriel Blayney gave the names of members whose birthdays were in October, and everyone sang Happy Birthday.

Social convener, Elsie Palmer, mentioned the date for Christmas dinner and party, Dec. 17, after the regular meeting.

The 10th anniversary of the club is in November. For this occasion, a pot luck lunch will be held at noon, Nov. 19. The meeting will follow. It was suggested that charter members be invited.

Jean John read from the report of the convention held in Kingston in August.

At the close of the meeting, the choir dressed in Halloween costumes entertained. Refreshments were served. All had a very enjoyable afternoon.

Tough new laws will deter trespassing. How we're helping to protect you and your property.

For nearly 150 years Ontario has had a law making it an offence to enter property where entry is prohibited. But now new legislation - The Trespass to Property Act - has toughened up the law to protect your rights.

Trespassers can now be fined up to $1,000. In addition, they can be ordered to pay for damages they have caused.

An important part of the legislation designates premises where entry is prohibited without notice. These include your gardens, orchards, vineyards, land under cultivation, woodlots and fenced land.

Where notice must be given to prohibit entry, you may use red markings on gates, trees or fences. Yellow markings may be used to caution that only certain activities may be permissible. It is the responsibility of the visitor to find out what you permit.

LAND USED FOR RECREATION

In the past, there was a great deal of confusion regarding your responsibility to people you allow on your land. Consequently many farmers and rural landholders would not allow recreational activities on their properties.

Now another new act - The Occupiers' Liability Act - reduces your responsibility. In a nutshell, the law assumes that those who take their recreation on most rural land without paying a fee will take care for their own safety.

A special system has been devised to allow you to easily indicate which activities you will allow on your property. A sign naming or graphically representing an activity (for example, hiking) indicates that the activity is permitted. The same kind of sign with an oblique stroke through it means that you prohibit the activity.

These new laws are part of a continuing program to streamline our legislation. By clarifying your rights, they afford you greater protection from trespass and also reduce your liability when you make land available for recreational purposes.

Drug and alcohol class

Drug and alcohol abuse is widespread in our society and its affects among the youth are truly alarming. Thus it comes as a source of hope and comfort then that a special class on drug and alcohol abuse is being taught at the Quinte Mohawk School on the Tyendinaga Reserve.

Arthur Loft, the counsellor from the Canada Employment Centre in Belleville who has taught the class since 1978 said that the program was started because of a need for exposure of youth to the consequences of chemical use and abuse.

For the first two years Mr. Loft instructed the grade eight class at the school but this year is teaching grade sixes and sevens as well. Senior elementary school children were chosen for the program in order to let them know the facts before any damage was done and to show them healthy alternative lifestyles.

Arthur Loft has had extensive training and experience in additions counselling making him well qualified for the job. He says teaching and counselling on drug abuse is a challenging and continuous learning experience.

It is hard to say at this time how effective the class is. Arthur said that students are interested in the subject but that it would be a number of years before he would know the full effects of the class.

Such Education programs are badly needed in other schools and Arthur Loft has discussed the need for such classes in the Deseronto Public School with Constable Rick Dennis of the Deseronto Police.

But Arthur says that for such a program in the schools to be fully effective there is need for community involvement. He said that there is not enough counsellors like himself to go around when considering the amount of drug and alcohol abuse that exists. The program can only be truly effective when teachers and members of the community get involved in teaching the program. Such local involvement also means someone close by in the community to whom youth can turn in time of need.

BESS WARES — EDITOR, QUINTE SCANNER

EDITORIAL

Back in March of 1979, the Scanner ran an article ... 'Would a Humane Society Shelter give better value for tax dollars?'

The article was triggered by something that happened to the Scanner news editor, Bess Wares, who had occasion to 'rescue' a stray pup which had been kept in a small cage on a top shelf at the Community Animal Control Centre in Napanee, covered with its own filth. (There were no outside or inside dog runs at the centre.)

At that time, we pointed out that the animal control officer in charge was not to blame for conditions. As animal control officer for Richmond, Napanee, Bath, Newburgh, Camden East, Sheffield and North Fredericksburgh, he had a huge beat to patrol. And the centre also got strays brought in by the animal control officer from Deseronto.

All those municipalities were paying toward picking up and destroying strays, if they weren't reclaimed, adopted or sold for research. The centre got $6 for each dog sold for research but, because of cuts in education grants for research, hardly any were being sold.

Meanwhile, it was costing the municipalities concerned $2,000 a year to kill and bury dogs.

The Scanner article suggested that, if we had a Humane Society Shelter where animals were kept in clean, attractive surroundings where prospective new owners could come and look them over, many more might find new homes. And, with the neutering and spaying program recommended by the Humane Society when pets are adopted, we could go a long way to reducing the stray dog problem in the future.

Well, we are delighted to be able to report that some people with hearts ... and common sense ... are tackling the problem in Lennox and Addington.

This month, the Lennox and Addington branch of the Humane Society held a public meeting to launch the new 1980-81 shelter fund-raising campaign.

'In March of this year, we only had five members,' said treasurer Madge Wemp, RR 1, Napanee. 'Now we have 90 and we have already raised $1,000 towards a shelter.'

They have a long way to go yet, and they are working hard ... selling tickets on draws, holding bake sales ... and they have a junior group actively involved too, under the leadership of Janelle Nadeau, a grade 13 student at NDSS.

If you want to help make better use of your tax dollars and, at the same time, make life a little happier for stray animals, you can call Mrs. Wemp at 354-4794. One of the best ways to help is to take out a membership in the Ontario Humane Society ... it's only $5. The cheque should be made out to the Ontario Humane Society and Mrs. Wemp will pass it along if you mail it to her.

One final comment ... animals under the protection of an Ontario Humane Society shelter do not get sold for research.

Bad's Eye View

Well folks, Hallowe'en is here again, and all the young 'uns will have a great time of it, tricking or treating. Mind you, it seems to me that there's more treating than tricking nowadays. We don't get near as many kids calling these past few years. Reckon it's on account of our place being out in the country. There's better pickings to be had in town, with less walking in between. I have a real good time when they do 'come though, trying to figure out who's who. I specially like it when they've gone to the trouble of making up their own costumes, instead of these here plastic things you get at the stores.

Maybe I'm getting too old to get into the spirit of the thing, but it seems to me that we had a lot more fun at Hallowe'en when I were young. We used to spend weeks figuring out tricks to pull.

One of the best known stories in these parts is the time a whole bunch of lads went over to this one farm on Hallowe'en night.

*by Orville S.
Greenbush*

There was so many of 'em that they didn't notice they had an extra watchman.

Anyways, they set to and took apart a farm wagon, and hauled her up, bit by piece on to the barn roof. And then they put her back together again. Took 'em the best part of the night to do it, and they were real proud of themselves. They all stood back to admire their handiwork, when a voice came from the back of the crowd. 'That were a real slick piece of work boys. Now let's see you take her down again.'

Sure enough, their extra watchman had been the farmer who owned the barn and the wagon. He'd stood there all night, watching 'em at work. Reckon he real enjoyed pulling the punch line. Hear they sweated till dawn getting that wagon back down and put together again.

Course, there was always the outhouses. Reckon it's too bad there ain't more of 'em around nowadays. I heard one trick that here Saran Wrap and put her over the hole, under the seat. I hear it works in a regular toilet, so I reckon it'd work even better in an outhouse where the light ain't so good.

Times I regret growing old. Sure wish we'd had Saran when I were a boy, but I guess we had other things, didn't we?

What a surprise!

Gloria Airhart, of 185 Mill Street in Deseronto, surprised her husband with a bowl of fresh raspberries for supper last week. Some of the berries were as large as a thumb.

She was out in the yard, hanging up clothes and noticed the berries on the bushes.

'The bees were still working on them,' she said.

Despite ocean storms and sand banks Helen S made it to Florida

St. Augustine
Florida, U.S.A.

October 14, 1980

About a month ago we sent our last news from Cape May, New Jersey, after our first ocean sailing experience.

Tuesday, September 16, we got up with the sun, anxious to continue our long voyage. Except for a few rare times, we have been blessed with good weather, likewise that day, when favourable winds pushed us on the Atlantic towards Ocean City, Maryland, where we arrived the same afternoon.

Most of the time we anchor, in order to avoid the crowds and the dockage fees, but this time we decided to take on fuel and water, so we pulled into a marina dock. And for sure, we were plagued by curious spectators, while carrying out our deck duties. The manager of the marina was kind enough to let us stay there overnight free of charge, which pleased us. That also gave Bill a chance to step ashore. He usually has to stay with the ship when everybody else goes shopping or sight-seeing, poor soul!

Next day, September 17, was too rough for ocean sailing, so we anchored a little way from the marina. There for the first time we were checked by the local Coast Guard. It was 'an official visit to enforce the law', as they claimed, but even if they might have been suspicious at first (they were well armed!) we were friends when they left.

In spite of a good thunderstorm and heavy rain at night, next morning was calm and radio broadcasts promised a good day for sailing. Even if there was hardly any wind, the ocean was restless, full of swells. The wind picked up in the afternoon, and the night was cool and clear with thousands of stars above us, twinkling and friendly.

At daybreak we were passing the light house in the mouth of Chesapeake Bay, Virginia, that was our destination that day. In our sight there were countless ocean freighters anchored in the bay. We also had fun watching some dolphins play in the water and in the bow waves. We pretended to be 'a big ship', and anchored among the freighters. There, no-one bothered us.

I was starting to get fed up with seasickness, and to give me a break and also to avoid the always rough Cape Hatteras further south, Bill decided to take the intracoastal waterway for a while. That proved to be quite an excitement, and was especially strenuous for him as helmsman.

On Monday, September 22, Norfolk, Virginia, and the first mile of the intracoastal waterway that the boats can take right down to the tip of Florida, a distance of about 1,000 miles. Just before sunset that same day, while looking for an anchorage spot we barely got off the dredged part of the channel when there was suddenly only about 5 feet of water. And we are drawing 7.5 feet! Well, we didn't need to drop the anchor, because we were aground! The Coast Guard came to enquire if we were alright. They suggested we could contact someone with a tugboat to pull us off, but Bill wanted to try it first himself. So that night at high tide he tried to motor the ship free, but no luck. Next morning he tried the same trick, and slowly the ship got loose and could be backed into the channel. What a joy and relief!

For a few days the weather got cool and rainy, and reminded us of the fall in Canada. It made travelling a little more miserable.

'It can be a dreadful sight to meet a barge or tugboat in a narrow bend or by a bridge,' Sirpa Grimschow reported. Several times, the Helen S. went around while clearing a way for them.

Warm, sunny days certainly make the difference!

On Tuesday, September 30 we were making our way in rain and wind, and wanted to anchor in Morehead City, where we could jump back to the ocean.

The anchor chain was jammed, and while trying to free it, a strong current pushed us into a sandbank. By that time it was pouring rain, the wind got stronger, and we hoisted four sails up to help to push us off the bank. We struggled in the rain for over an hour, finally got free, and found a deeper spot for anchoring. Some of us were wet, cold and hungry and a bowl of hot soup sure hit the spot!

Next morning it was still raining, and we decided to continue in the intracoastal waterway, which the barges and tugboats also use. It can be a dreadful sight to meet one of those in a narrow bend or by a bridge, as we sometimes did. Twice we went around while clearing a way for them. But after a few times no-one got uptight over it anymore, and Bill got good at getting the ship free. It still isn't a desirable situation to be in! Someone told us that after being aground 10-12 times, the captain will lose his license, but, of course, Bill doesn't need to worry, because he doesn't have one. And it is really of no fault. We are just a victim of unfriendly circumstances.

Wednesday, October 8 we arrived in Charleston, South Carolina, and had covered 465 miles since Norfolk. Bill was fed up with the problems of the Canal, Gord was pretty bored, Robbie was tired of reading the charts of the Canal and I was sufficiently recovered from past sea-sickness that the ocean appealed to us again.

As a change for everyone we sailed for 31 hours on the ocean from Charleston to St. Simon's Sound, Georgia. It is more exhausting, but in a couple of days you easily get over it. Because of the rough weather on the ocean we took to the inland waterway again, which soon took us over the border of Florida, finally. Fairly warm weather and the palm trees tell us that we are in the land of no ice or snow.

Today another little accident happened. A strong current pushed us over a small buoy, which bent the propeller blades and the shaft. It has to be changed and fixed. But we don't get discouraged, and in spite of some difficulties still carry on slowly, but surely. So, here we are, anchored in the middle of nowhere, and longing for the day when the Dominican Republic will be in sight!

P.S. Bill just came from the engine room and said, 'I have good news and bad news. The good news is that the engine only used one quart of oil today, instead of the usual four. The bad news is that my propeller is still bent!'

See you next month!

NOTICE TO ALL ELECTORS IN THE TOWN OF DESERONTO

In accordance with Section 30 of the Municipal Act, please be advised that the following proposed By-Law to reduce the number of members on Deseronto Town Council will be submitted for the assent of the Electors at the November 10, 1980 Town of Deseronto Municipal Election.

'A By-Law to provide that the Council of the Town of Deseronto shall be composed of a Mayor, Reeve, Deputy Reeve, and FOUR Councillors, all to be elected by general vote.'

WHEREAS, Section 30(3) of the Municipal Act, R.S.O. 1970 and amendments thereto, states that where a Town has a population of not more than 5,000, the council shall be composed of a mayor, a reeve, a deputy reeve, where so entitled, and, (a) six councillors to be elected by general vote OR, where the council so provides, four councillors to be elected by general vote.

AND WHEREAS the Council of the Corporation of the Town of Deseronto deems it advantageous to reduce the present number of six councillors to four;

NOW THEREFORE the Council of the Corporation of the Town of Deseronto ENACTS as follows:

1. THAT the Council of the Corporation of the Town of Deseronto shall be composed of a mayor, a reeve, a deputy reeve and four councillors, all to be elected by general vote.
2. THAT this by-law shall take effect at, and for the purposes of, the municipal election next after its passing.

If this by-law receives the assent of the electors, such by-law SHALL be passed by the Council following the expiration of two weeks after the result of the voting has been declared. BUT such by-law shall not take effect until the municipal election next after its passing.

I, Carman J. Milligan, Clerk-Treasurer, Town of Deseronto, do hereby certify that the above by-law is a true copy of the proposed by-law to be submitted for assent of the Electors at the 1980 Municipal Election in the Town of Deseronto.

To The Electors of Deseronto

I wish to acquaint you with my personal history and respectfully request your support in the Nov. 10th election for the office of Public Utilities Commissioner.

I was born and raised in Deseronto. I am married and have three children and own our home on Thomas Street. I have always had a deep interest and love for our town. Due to the lack of interest in local government in the last two election years at nomination time, I decided to put forth my interest, business knowledge and enthusiasm towards the office of P.U.C. In these difficult financial times it must be of high priority to insure services paid for are provided at minimum cost and maximum efficiency. For information and transportation, please call 396-3419 or 396-3704.

Your truly,

Linda M. Brooks

ATOMS CAPTURE FIRST WIN OF THE SEASON

The Deseronto O.M.H.A. Atoms won their first game of the short season on Friday night when they travelled to Wellington and won 2 to 1. Hamlyn Maracle opened the scoring early in the second period on a goal from Scott Baker to break a 0-0 tie. Early in the third period Andrew Cole, unassisted, scored what proved to be the winning goal for Deseronto. Wellington's lone goal came off the stick of McConkey to ruin the Deseronto shut-out for goalenders Danny Loney and John Milligan.

On October 25 the Atoms travelled to Belleville to try to avenge their first game of the season when Belleville had defeated them 9 to 0. This was not to happen though, as the Belleville squad emerged 8 to 1 victors. Deseronto's lone goal came from Hamlyn Maracle unassisted midway through the third period.

The Atoms play their next regular game on November 15 when they host Wellington for a 2:00 p.m. start at Deseronto and District Community Recreation Centre. The elimination of the centre red line in Atom hockey has drawn both favourable and unfavourable criticism this year. Come out on November 15th and look for yourself. Minor Hockey groups across Canada are making rash changes in an attempt to develop better skating and stick-handling skills in this younger age group as well as eliminating all forms of body checking. Your comments would be welcomed by Deseronto and District Minor Hockey Association.

LEGION PEE WEES BEAT NAPANEE

Napanee Peewees seconds were hosted by the Deseronto Branch 280 Legion Pee Wees on October 25th and Deseronto emerged with a convincing 7 to 1 win. The game was an exhibition game.

Deseronto opened the scoring with just 23 seconds gone in the first period when Chris Cassidy scored from Danny McConnell. Late in the first Legion Pee Wees went ahead by 2 on a goal by Ricky Marlow from Mike Van Vlack and Chris Cassidy.

Mid way through the second Napanee's Don Duscharme assisted by Troy Gibson beat Deseronto goalie Marlon Maracle to bring his team back to within one goal, but before the period ended Deseronto had taken a 5 to 1 lead on goals by Shain Smith, Tim Smart and Kevin Hill. Picking up assists on these goals were Jamie Lalonde, Mark Loney, Ricky Marlow and Shain Smith.

The third period saw Deseronto's line of Mike Maracle, Mark Loney and Kevin Hill score twice to end the game 7 to 1 for the home owners.

Deseronto was without the services of star centre Bob Thompson who will be sidelined for several weeks with a broken ankle. Deseronto will again host Napanee for another exhibition game on November 1, before returning to their regular schedule on November 2 when they meet Trenton at the Deseronto and District Community Recreation Centre for a 3:30 start.

GRANT INSURANCE BANTAMS DROP TWO

Deseronto Grant Insurance Bantams hosted Picton on Saturday afternoon and were handed a 13 to 1 drubbing by their visitors. The locals held their opponents off the score sheet for just over 8 minutes of the first period before they erupted with 3 goals, 3 more in the second and 7 in the final.

Deseronto's lone goal came from Steve Cassidy on an assist from Bill McMechan with just 17 seconds left in the game. Picton picked up goals from Todd Fraser (3), Raymond Hennessy (3), Jamie Branscombe (2) as well as singles by Troy Eaton, Anday Cronkwright, Rick Terpstra, Paul Ireland and Phil Robson. The Picton squad (all Ontario Pee Wee 'B' champs 1978-79) looked exceptional on the ice and could well be an All Ontario Bantam contender for the 1980-81 season.

On Sunday afternoon it was Wellington Bantams who visited Deseronto and handed the Grant Insurance team a 6 to 2 defeat. Deseronto opened the scoring on a goal from Steve Cassidy from Bill McMechan. Just 2 minutes later Deseronto went ahead 2 to 0 on a goal by Todd John from Danny Marlowe and Ted McGuinness. It looked good for Deseronto, but before the period was over it was a 2-2 tie with Wellington picking up goals from Darren Thompson and Rick Morris.

Wellington scored twice more in the second period and twice in the third to wind up the game. Deseronto coach Wayne 'Cubby' Brant continues to make cuts and changes in an attempt to come up with the winning combination.

The Bantams travel to Wellington Tuesday night for their next game, then to Napanee on November 1st and back to Wellington on November 2nd.

REID SUTCLIFFE MIDGETS START SEASON WITH A 50-50 AVERAGE

Deseronto's OMHA Midget entry started off its regular season on Sat. Oct. 18, when they played host to their counterparts from Trenton.

Trenton opened the scoring at 9:53 of the first period on a goal by Jim Iotham and made it 2 to 0 just 12 seconds later on a shot by Dan O'Donnell. Deseronto did everything except score in the game, holding on until there were just four minutes left in the game before Rob T. McIntosh pushed Trenton to a third goal. The game ended 3 to 0 for Trenton.

On Tuesday night, Oct. 21, the Wellington Midgets came to town and the two teams treated fans to a good, fast, clean game. A full 20 minutes of play had elapsed before the first penalty was called.

Deseronto opened the scoring when the game was less than 2 minutes old. Bruce Maracle let a blistering shot go that missed the net, bounced out in front and into the net off the stick of the baffled Wellington netminder, Alex Simpson.

Chris Brant made it 2 to 0 for Deseronto on one of his patented plays from Al Hill and Curtis Maracle. Wellington pulled back to within 1 with just 26 seconds left when Lindsay Hafford took a pass from Robert Holmes and slipped it past Deseronto goalie Shawn Doyle.

Deseronto went ahead by 3 to 2 early in the second period on a goal by Doug McMechan from Scott Newcombe and Bruce Maracle. With just over a minute left in the period, Lindsay Hafford scored his second goal from Scott Hafford and Chris Weir.

The third period was not too good for the Reid-Sutcliffe Midgets as they failed to capitalize on many good chances. For Wellington it was again Lindsay Hafford who scored to earn himself a 'hat-trick' and his team a 3 to 3 tie.

Deseronto coach Darrell VanVlack and manager Fred Newcombe were justly proud of their boys and have high hopes for a good season.

On Oct. 25, it was back to Trenton for the second visit of the year with the Trenton squad and again it was a loss for the Deseronto Midgets by a 12 to 5 score in a penalty-filled game that resulted in coach Van Vlack being suspended for the next league game due to the number of penalties from his players.

On Oct. 26, the Reid-Sutcliffe Midgets travelled to North Addington Recreation Centre for their first visit of the year against the Godfrey Midgets.

Deseronto's Doug McMechan led the team to a 6 to 4 win with two goals and two assists. Doug scored the first Deseronto goal assisted by D. Vanalstine and the team's second goal assisted by Scott Newcombe and Carl Maracle.

Deseronto's third goal was an unassisted effort by Chris Brant. Trevor Brant scored the team's fourth with the assist going to Doug McMechan. The fifth goal was again Chris Brant unassisted and the sixth by Carl Maracle assisted by Doug McMechan and Gary Thompson.

Both Godfrey goals were scored by Mike Bucking.

The team plays again on the road on Oct. 28, as they visit Wellington, home on Nov. 1 for a visit from Stirling, for an exhibition game, and then back to Godfrey on Nov. 8.

Deseronto Council Briefs

At Monday night's meeting of Deseronto Town Council, Councillor Clarence Ziemann reported that an Arbitrator had been appointed, following the filing of arbitration papers with Ontario's Solicitor General by the Deseronto Police Association.

The arbitrator is Mrs. Gail Brent and the hearing will be held in Belleville, but no date has been set yet.

Councillor Ziemann expects it will be held near the end of November and plans to get together with Bill Mylkes, consultant, who will be representing the town, to go over the town's position previous to the hearing.

Three By-Laws were passed: one to establish a plan of sick leave credit gratuities for all permanent employees of the town; another to set rules and regulations for the operation of the Deseronto Police Force; and a third to amend the Town of Deseronto Traffic By-Law.

When properly worded signs have been erected and are on display, there will be no parking in the following areas... east side of Mechanic Street from Park Street to Main Street, south side of Main Street from Green Street to Mechanic Street, and south side of Stanley Avenue from Centre Street to the easterly limit of Stanley Avenue.

A letter was received from Field, Turner, Dunn and Lynch, barristers and solicitors, concerning the Sewer Hookup to Quinte Marina owned by Jack Scott.

'We are not going to subsidize Mr. Scott. We will put the lateral to his lot line on Fourth Street,' Mayor John Neal said.

Councillor Ziemann had suggested that the matter be held over until next council meeting but Mayor Neal said, 'No. Mr. Scott has been put on the hook time and time again. It has to be answered.'

If the lateral is not already in place, the Ministry of the Environment has the responsibility to put it in.

Town clerk-treasurer, Carman Milligan, reported that payment had been stopped on Water Costs. The town is only paying what it expects to collect during the year.

Reeve B. Johnston told council that the Paving on the upper part of St. George Street had been completed and that paving on the lower portion was starting this week.

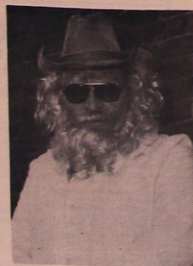

'The cosmetic work on the street won't be done until next spring,' he said.

The Public Utilities Commission has agreed to put up some More Lights and will check all the lights every Friday morning for burnt out bulbs. The lights will be cleaned as bulbs are changed.

Residents of Parkview Apartments on Edmon Street sent a petition to council requesting Cable Television in the building.

It was moved that council pursue their request through the proper authorities.

There will be No Meeting of council on November 10 as that is election day.

We're not going to tell you who it is, behind all those Hallowe'en whiskers, but his usual face is familiar to almost everyone in Deseronto. Friday night, trick and treaters will be out in full force. Motorists are advised to be on the lookout for little people on the streets. And parents are reminded, for safety's sake, make sure your kids can see clearly through their masks, and dress them in something light. A bit of reflective material will make them more visible too.

Five running for two Deseronto PUC seats

Last week, when the Scanner went to press, there were no candidates for the two positions open on Deseronto's Public Utilities Commission. Frieda Vick had withdrawn her nomination and Ray Bilnt withdrew his to let his nomination for town council stand.

Nominations for PUC were thrown open again last Wednesday, and five nominations have been received.

Contesting the two positions are Betty Bint, 286 Thomas Street; Linda Brooks, 311 Thomas Street; J.D. Hawley, 143 First Street; Lyle LaLonde, 93 Prince Street, and Flo McAllister, 356 Main Street.

On November 10, electors will have a chance to vote for two of the above candidates for PUC, and will also have a choice for mayor and deputy reeve.

Present mayor John Neal and Austin B. Duffy are running for the top position, and Clarence Ziemann and Terry Whalen are contesting the deputy-reeve spot.

There will also be a chance for voters to voice their opinion on reducing the size of council to the mayor, reeve, deputy reeve, and four (instead of the present six) councillors.

There will be no election for members of the school board. Ernie Allore of Tweed and Roger Cole of Deseronto are in by acclamation.

The Great Lakes — an inland sea

This is a reprint from the Great Lakes/Seaway Task Force Newsletter, published by the Ontario Government. It contained a wealth of material about the lakes which interested us and which, we hope, will interest our readers.

Water. It is a precious resource that means life to us.

We drink it, drive industries with it, generate energy from it, grow food with it and play in it; in short, we cannot live without it.

The Great Lakes are an inland sea, containing one-fifth of the world's fresh water. It is a system that more than 300 years to flow from Lake superior to the St. Lawrence River.

More than one-third of the entire industrial output of the continent is produced in the Great Lakes Basin where 37 million people live, work and benefit from the economic advantages which result from this wealth of natural water.

The five Great Lakes, which form the largest group of freshwater bodies in the world, have a combined shoreline of over 8,000 miles and their combined area covers more than 95,000 square miles.

They form a single drainage system which discharges down the St. Lawrence River and extends some 2,400 miles, nearly halfway across Canada.

The system drains an area of about 678,000 square miles and constitute an unequalled navigable inland waterway through a region rich in natural and industrial resources and through which ever-increasing tonnages of bulk and general cargos are transported and from all parts of the globe.

A total of about 200 towns and cities line the shoreline of the Great Lakes and the two largest cities in Canada — Toronto and Montreal — are on the Great Lakes and the St. Lawrence River respectively.

Apart from its economic importance, the Great Lakes system is of immense benefit to more than 60 million people who live in the area.

Summer activities attract numerous tourists and sportsmen to Ontario each year. Thousands of vacation cottages have been built along the shores of the Great Lakes and around inland lakes in the region.

The Great Lakes have also provided a major transportation artery for the commercial development of the North American interior.

One of the primary iron and steel mills, coal for electrical power generation in Central Canada, wheat for export to overseas markets — these are a few of the vital cargos that cross our inland waters to maintain a dynamic economy sustaining a growing population.

The Great Lakes also support recreational and commercial fisheries. Recreational fishing and support activities are valued at about $600 million annually and thousands of people are employed in industries ranging from boat building to tourism.

The market value of the commercial catch of more than 45 million pounds of fish during 1978 was over $40 million.

The Great Lakes — St. Lawrence system remains an important artery in the world's transportation mosaic. The opening of inland cities and the proliferation of industry along its shores have contributed greatly to the quality of life enjoyed by all Canadians.

But custody of the Great Lakes is a daily trust and a constant challenge. The axis from which our national economy draws its strength cannot accommodate the heavy demands we make on it unless we exploit with discrimination and care for its future life.

We will in future face different battles as part of the same war against assaults upon our Lakes. This is the challenge that all levels of government and the public at large must tackle with perseverance and courage if we are to safeguard our trust — a strategic commercial and recreation lifeline.

The map shows the brightest stars and constellations that can be seen by an observer facing north and all stars from most stargazing maps. This map is a good one to use at the night and any night of the year. Called a constellation map it is so well so that it can be used any night of the year. The stars are arranged in the same way as they are in the sky. The stars are arranged in the same way as they are in the sky. The stars are arranged in the same way as they are in the sky.

NOVEMBER

At this time, for each hour after sunset, the map shows the stars that will be visible in the sky. The stars are arranged in the same way as they are in the sky. The stars are arranged in the same way as they are in the sky.

These two star groups lie on opposite sides and some distance from Polaris. When the Big Dipper is close to the northern horizon as it is in November, it is a good idea to look for it. The stars are arranged in the same way as they are in the sky.

As mentioned earlier, Polaris marks clearly the direction in space of the earth's north pole axis — but this is not always at the top of the map. The stars are arranged in the same way as they are in the sky.

One For The Pot

Here's a chance to try out some recipes from Canadian celebrities and help a good cause at the same time. As a fund-raising project, Epilepsy Ontario has published a cook book, 'All-Occasion Cooking' which you can order from All-Occasion Cooking, Epilepsy Ontario, P.O. Box 369, Paris, Ontario, N3L 3G5. The recipes below are a few samples from the book, which is selling for $9.95 a copy.

GORD SINCLAIR'S SPECIAL TURNIP

2 saccharin tablets
Butter
Pepper
When Sinclair does the Turnip, even people who hate it...love it.

So what you do is you get a good waxed turnip, and you cut it into about one cubic inch squares and you boil hell out of it...that means at least an hour.

The secret ingredient is two saccharin tablets! They must be there while it is boiled.

Then you mash it with copious amounts of butter and liberal sprinklings of pepper so it is almost whipped; having salted it lightly before boiling of course.

'It may not be a recipe per se, but by God it's great turnip and with a rare sirloin steak and fried onions, I can be a hero anytime,' Sinclair says.

DINAH CHRISTIE'S M'EGGS (MY EGGS)

Just lightly fry your eggs in butter, covering them after they have been seasoned.

While the yolks are still soft, dot them with sour cream and sprinkle them with grated Parmesan cheese. Then place them under the broiler for 2 to 3 minutes until golden and gurgling. It makes a pleasant change.

PATRICK MARTIN'S CHEESE FONDUE

'I acquired this recipe a few years ago, while living in a small mountain village in Switzerland. It's never failed me and I've never tasted better.'

1/2 pound Gruyere cheese
1/2 pound Emmenthal cheese
1/2 pound Swiss 'Bagne' cheese (also known as Raclette)
1 heaping tablespoon cornstarch
1 large clove garlic
12 to 14 ounces of a light white wine (not too dry)
One French stick cut into 1 inch cubes (and left out to dry for a few hours)
2 ounces kirsch (if a liqueur, similar to Kirsch but made from apples can be found, it is preferred)
Nutmeg
Black pepper

Shred cheese, toss together with cornstarch. Rub fondue dish with garlic. Heat the wine in the dish over a medium high temperature until tiny bubbles form. Turn heat to low.

Add cheese gradually, stirring constantly. When all cheese is melted and mixture is constant, add 1/2 to 1 ounce of kirsch. Stir in nutmeg to taste.

Grind in black pepper as you serve it. Dip bread cubes into the mixture for a delightful meal!

Serve with pickled onions, or a light salad. For added zest, try dipping the bread first into the leftover kirsch, then into the cheese.

Remember two Swiss customs which must be faithfully observed when eating this dish:

1. The treasured part of the meal is the 'soupe' or 'nun', the crust which forms at the bottom of the dish. Use low heat, so not to burn. Give this crust to an honoured guest, or share it among the group. (It should be lifted off with a fork.)

2. The Swiss are very neat, orderly people. Anyone who drops his bread into the cheese must pay a penalty: either a bottle of wine for the table or a kiss to everyone of the opposite sex.

SPOOK PATROL

Would be vandals and pranksters will be under close surveillance this Halloween, as members of local GRS clubs band together to form a 'spook patrol' in Prince Edward County.

The citizen band radio operators will be patrolling various areas in the county throughout the night, reporting major occurrences to the local police force.

HORTICULTURE MEET

'Gardening Under Lights' will be the topic Thursday night, October 30, when Jack Laundry of RR 1 Picton addresses members of the Prince Edward Horticulture Society.

The meeting will be taking place at the Senior Citizens' Hall on Ross Street in Picton at 7:30 p.m. and everyone is welcome. There will also be a plant and bulb exchange at this meeting and everyone is invited to bring along an item to trade.

FOUR-WAY STOP

A four-way stop will be established at the intersection of Prince Edward County roads one and two, in an effort to prevent traffic accidents.

There's only one problem with a four-way stop...who goes first if cars reach the intersection from all four directions at exactly the same time. Everyone has someone on the right to whom they must yield. Can't you just see four cars sitting there forever while the county snow piles up around them?

The fifth law regards truthfulness and sincerity. In the days when truthfulness and sincerity are captive in the claws of falsehood, you must not refuse to discharge the due reward of anyone, respect possessors of talent. The river of skill is overflowing from all areas, in all nations. So one must speak and act with justice and recognize the worth of benefits.

Among interesting events planned by the Ontario Ministry of Agriculture and Food during November are: an Agricultural History of Ontario seminar at the University of Guelph, Nov. 1; Canadian Greenhouse Conference, Trade Fair and Educational Program, also at the University of Guelph, Nov. 7; two tax seminars at Kempsville College of Agricultural Technology on Nov. 19 and 22; the Ontario Federation of Agriculture annual conference at the Holiday Inn in Toronto, Nov. 24-27; and an Ontario Station-Tested Boar sale at 1:30 Nov. 20, in New Hamburg.

A recent Ontario Hydro study of power theft among its 758,900 rural customers found that 0.13% of customers sampled were knowingly or inadvertently stealing electricity. Hydro surveyed 5,370 customers selected at random and found only seven that could be identified as possible thieves. In three of these cases, flat-rate heater elements had been changed and, in another, a temporary connection had been overlooked. 'It is highly unlikely that these customers would realize they were stealing,' said Jim Farrell, manager of rural service. 'We certainly have no intention of prosecuting in these instances.' In three other cases, however, the meter had been deliberately bypassed and charges will be laid.

Agriculture Canada economists forecast that hog prices should continue to rise into 1981 as hog marketing across North America drops. In Canada, fourth-quarter hog marketing are expected to average slightly above this time last year, but are likely to drop in the first half of 1981 to an average five to eight percent below the same period in 1980.

With help from Canada, Colombia is establishing a viable fruit and vegetable processing industry. The South American country is a major exporter of fresh fruits and vegetables but has no processing facilities to prevent spoilage of much of the crop.

Dr. R.P. Jaques of the Agriculture Canada research station at Harrow has been studying how to use bacteria and viruses to most effectively control pests such as the cabbage looper and cabbageworm. He has found that by mixing the control agents with pesticides, a farmer could reduce to a three-quarters the chemical load normally sprayed on cole crops.

A lively meeting for Sophiasburgh's Over Sixty Club this month

Sophiasburgh Over '60' Club met at the CE Center for its regular meeting in October, in the form of a pot luck supper. About 40 seniors sat down to a delicious meal which everyone enjoyed.

After the meal, President Kay Ruskin called the meeting to order with the singing of 'O Canada' and the Lord's Prayer in unison. Minutes of the last meeting were read by secretary Winnie Lindsay. Treasurer's report was given by Marguerite Mitchell.

President Kay Ruskin gave a report on year's work and announced that a very successful bazaar had again been held on Sept. 27. Tickets had been sold on a quilt and this was won by Mrs. Art Lowe, Demorestville, with ticket no. 731. Also tickets on a rug made by Mrs. Viola Smith which was won by Mrs. Lloyd Lindsay, Br. Col. ticket No. 229.

A basket of groceries was the door prize and was won by Mrs. M. Denard of Wellington, Ticket no. 007421. Mrs. Sandy Young had made and donated a teddy bear cake. This was won by Karen Rollison of Big Island, ticket no. 29.

The president, on behalf of the club, moved a vote of thanks to all those who had so generously helped in any way with the bazaar to make it such a huge success.

It was decided to give the local church a donation toward putting water in the hall.

The president then declared all offices vacant and asked Allan

Neff to conduct the election of officers for the coming year.

On the new slate of officers are: president, Reg Ruskin; first vice-president, Murney Lindsay; secretary Dorothea Robinson; treasurer Hilda Roze; sick and card committee Laura Hamby; friendly visiting Marjorie Hackett; telephone committee Viola Smith chairperson; recreation committee Ilse Fraser, Kay Anderson and Winnie Lindsay; newsletter and publicity Mary Sallans.

The next meeting will be held at the C. E. Center on Nov. 4, at 7:30 p.m.

Legion News

Do your homework before you do any work on your home.

Before you start on any home repairs or renovations, you should do some careful thinking. Decide exactly what you want done. Draw up an overall plan. And do a little digging around to find out all you can about potential contractors for your job.

A few precautions will eliminate some common problems:

- ✓ Don't be talked into having work done just because the rest of the neighbourhood is doing it or because the price is presented as bargain basement.
- ✓ If the project is a major one, seek professional advice (i.e. architects or engineers) before the work is started.
- ✓ Ask for estimates from at least three reliable firms.
- ✓ When you decide to sign a contract, find out first who does the actual work.
- ✓ Insist that all details be written into the estimate - the type and amount of work to be done, total cost, date of completion and any extras.
- ✓ If a large amount of money is involved, have a lawyer go over the contract before you sign it. Don't give more than 10 percent as a down payment.
- ✓ Never sign a completion certificate until the work has been done to your satisfaction.
- ✓ Hold back 15 percent of the final payment for 37 days after the work is completed. That way, if the contractor or subcontractor does not pay for materials, you are protected from liability under The Mechanics Lien Act.

Unfortunately, despite the most carefully laid plans, you may find yourself the victim of unethical business practices.

Your Provincial Government wants you to know what your rights are under the Consumer Protection and Business Practices Acts.

✓ The Consumer Protection Act allows you to cancel any contract signed in your home (where delivery, payment and performance of work remain to be completed) by sending a registered letter to the company within 48 hours - or two full working days - of signing.

✓ The Business Practices Act allows you to have the transaction cancelled by sending a registered letter to the company if you have been misled by false or deceptive consumer representations.

Aging doesn't mean elderly

BY TERRY SPRAGUE

A new microfilm reader has arrived at the Napanee office of the Ministry of Natural Resources which is expected to measurable ease the tedious job of aging fish. The machine is the same type used by department stores, utilities, hospitals and manufacturing firms to examine data which has been recorded on microfilm.

The machine at Napanee will be used to examine the annuli, or year marks, on the fish scales, the method commonly used to age fish in temperate waters. Annuli are actually interruptions in the scale's growth pattern, formed during spring when the fish resumes its growth after a period of no growth during the winter lethargy. The problem in aging fish arises when food shortages, sudden temperature changes or injury cause false annuli to form on the scale, thus leading to possible over-aging.

The method formerly used at Napanee was the trichinoscope, an instrument still used in many research centres, including Glenora Fisheries Research Station, six miles east of Picton.

To use this instrument, the scales first have to be placed on acetate plastic slides, then passed through a roller press which causes the sculpturing of the scale to be impressed into the slide. The slide is then fitted into the trichinoscope and the scale image is enlarged on the projection screen.

The new device at Napanee eliminates the need for acetate slides, the scales being placed directly on the microfilm reader. Marion Thompson, commercial fish clerk and scale reader at the Napanee district office believes this advantage alone will see the Napanee office recover the cost of the machine in not more than a year's time.

Marion Thompson, commercial fish clerk and scale reader at the Napanee office of the Ministry of Natural Resources tries out her new microfilm reader, used for aging fish.

'The slides cost about $200 for a box of 5,000,' says Marion, 'and I generally go through $600 worth in one year.'

The cost of the new microfilm reader was approximately $500.

The scale reader points out, however, that the new machine is capable of taking slides, if there are unaged samples which are already mounted in this manner.

Another advantage of the microfilm reader says Marion, is that the small screen on the face of the machine can be removed and the image projected onto a conventional projection screen for demonstration purposes.

She added the new device is much easier on the eyes, unlike the older method which caused some eye strain after prolonged use. Also the entire scale remains in focus on the microfilm reader, unlike the trichinoscope which requires its operator to continually focus and re-focus to get a clear image of all portions of the scale.

The microfilm reader is manufactured in Menomonee Falls, Wisconsin by the Micrographics division of Realist Inc., and is distributed by a Mississauga representative. The machine is quite portable and weighs only 30 pounds.

Marion says the Napanee office is among the first to try out the microfilm reader for fish aging, although the Bancroft district office and White Lake Fish Hatchery on Highway No. 7, east of Kaladar has shown interest in the new machines.

The Napanee office employee adds that the machine allows one to select any one of a series of 'quick change' lenses, capable of projecting even the most delicate of scales into a readable size.
